VERDICT ON WARD NEAR IN CHINA

Hungary Holds 31. T. & T. Men On Spy Charge

Seen As Move To Take Over Lines Of Communication

By ENDRE MARTON

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Nov. 22 (AP)—Hungary announced today the arrest of three communications company executives, including Robert Vogeler of New York, on charges of espionage and sabotage. The communique declared all had confessed.

Vogeler, 38, is an assistant vice president of the International Telephone an Telegraph Company of New York and its roving representative in Eastern Europe, with headquarters in Vienna, Austria.

Detained with him were Edgar Sanders, a Briton who is the local representative of I. T. & T., and Imre Geiger, a Hungarian national who is managing director of an I. T. & T. subsidiary, the Standard Electric Company, Ltd.

Seek To Visit Prisoners

Both American and British diplomatic authorities asked the foreign ministry for permission to visit the prisoners. The Hungarian decision was deferred.

The communist government's 84-word announcement said others also are held, but did not state the number nor give details of the case. It is understood here that Vogeler was seized on his way to Vienna by motor car after checking out of his Budapest hotel Friday.

The announcement said:

"Engineer Imre Geiger, managing director of the Standard Electric Company, Ltd., has been arrested while trying to cross the border illegally. He confessed to having committed large - scale espionage and spying activity.

"Upon the testimony of Imre Geiger and other evidence, the state security office also detained Robert Vogeler, an American citizen, and Edgar Sanders, a British citizen.

"They also confessed to having committed sabotage and espionage against the Hungarian People's Republic for a considerable time. Other members of the spying organization also were detained."

U. S. Minister Nathaniel P. Davis, summoned by Foreign Minister Cyula Kalla to receive the announcement, immediately asked permission to talk with Vogeler. Kallai was reported to have promised to "forward the request to the proper authority."

Served In British Army

The British consul asked permission to visit Sanders, who returned to Hungary as an accountant for the I. T. & T., after serving as a captain in the British Military mission here immediately after the war.

An assistant vice president of the company, Henry Scudder, said in Vienna the Vogeler case "follows the exact pattern of the Standard Oil Company men who were arrested on the same charges last year." He implied that the aim of the communist government was to take over company properties.

Pau Ruedemann and George Bannantine, American representatives of Standard, were arrested by Hungarian secret police September 18, 1948, and expelled a week later after signing statements saying they were guilty of sabotage in the Lespe Oil Fields. The two subsequently told reporters they signed the statements under pressure which included questioning for 24 hours at a stretch.

Convicted Of Murder

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 22 (AP)—Joseph M. Yeager today was convicted of first degree murder in the slaying of a woman in a Pittsburgh hotel May 5. The jury recommended life imprisonment.

Bridges' attorney sentenced —

Bridges' Lawyer Gets 6-Months In Court Contempt

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22 (AP)—Vincent Hallinan, chief attorney for Harry Bridges, was sentenced today to six months in jail for criminal contempt of court, after a bitter, acriminous exchange of words with Federal Judge George B. Harris.

Judge Harris at first ordered Hallinan into custody immediately. Later he granted a stay to allow Hallinan to continue to represent the West Coast CIO Longshore leader in his perjury trial.

The trial will be resumed at 10 a.m. tomorrow. Under his original order, Judge Harris had continued the case until December 6 and told Bridges to get another lawyer. The stay, however, means that Hallinan will have to serve his sentence once the case goes to the jury.

The word battle bought a scathing denunciation of Hallinan's contemptious attitude by the judge and a motion by the attorney that the judge disqualify himself in the proceedings.

Before Judge Harris granted the stay, he discussed the matter with Bridges, who is charged with perjury in denying in a naturalization hearing that he was a communist. He asked the defendant his opinion about changing counsel.

"I don't think I will get a square deal," Bridges said.

Chambers Again In Hiss Trial

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP)—Whittaker Chambers testified today that before the war Henry Julian Wadleigh handed over to him brief cases bulging with state documents in the shadow of the nation's capitol dome.

Chambers told the second perjury trial of Alger Hiss that he got the documents from Wadleigh at the rate of 10 to 25 a month for two years.

Chambers has described himself at that time as a courier for a communist prewar spy ring, pumping secrets from men high in government ranks.

Wadleigh, who spent 10 years in the trade agreements section of the State Department, has admitted passing secrets to Chambers. But he said he never took them from any State Department desk except his own.

Hiss' defense attorney indicated at the opening of his retrial that Wadleigh—not Hiss—was the source of Chambers' famed pumpkin papers.

Wadleigh has said he could have given Chambers the pumpkin papers but doubted that he did.

The pumpkin papers were microfilmed records of State Department documents. Chambers took them from a hollow pumpkin on his Maryland farm a year ago to bolster his charge that they came from Hiss.

"He's The Man"

Child Survives Sex Attack To Identify Her Assailant

CROOKSTON, Minn., Nov. 22 (INS)—A seven-year-old girl who survived a sex abduction and a strangling attempt identified a 25-year-old farmer today from a Crookston Hospital bed as her assailant.

The suspect, Raymond Dempsey, steadfastly denied the accusation and insisted that he wasn't "the guy."

The girl, Vivian Shannon, wandered into a farmhouse about 10 miles north of her Red Lake Falls, Minn., home early today and told how she was kidnaped and left beside a haystack after being choked into unconsciousness.

Dr. L. N. Dale of Crookston, who examined the girl, said sex advances had been made but further tests were necessary to determine the extent. He also said Vivian had marks on her throat which indicated an effort had been made to strangle her.

Sheriff's deputies said they believed the girl lay unconscious for more than five hours in below freezing temperatures of 20 degrees.

Vivian said she "woke up" this morning to find her captor gone and walked to the nearest farmhouse near St. Hilaire.

Her appearance ended an all-night search by posses of townspeople under the direction of Sheriff Noel J. Proulx. The hunt began when witnesses said they saw her riding in a strange automobile.

Confronted by the suspect, Vivian declared:

"His face is the same. He is just as tall."

And then she asked the man to turn around after telling her mother she was "not afraid." She looked again at Dempsey and said:

"The back is the same. He is the man."

Russ Progress On A-Bomb May Reshape Plans

Partnership Of Canada, Britain, U. S. Forming

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—Russia's progress in mastering the secrets of the atom may have a decisive influence in shaping a new atomic energy partnership among the United States, Britain and Canada.

Diplomatic authorities said today that the atomic explosion in Russia had made it more important than ever for the west to build up its atomic bomb stockpile as rapidly as possible.

Will Present Argument

This view evidently will be advanced by the United States in negotiations with Britain and Canada as an urgent argument for continuing to concentrate the production of atomic explosives in this country without any cut in the supply of raw materials coming here.

The State Department announced today that the second round of "exploratory atomic energy conversations" among representatives of the three countries will be opened next Monday. The first round was held in Washington in late September.

At issue is revision of the war born partnership of the three western powers in atomic secrets and development of the first atomic bomb. Two questions are reported to be of pressing importance:

1. The allocation between the United States and Britain of uranium ore produced in the Belgian Congo. They take the full output of the Congo mines which are the world's greatest.

2. The exchange of atomic secrets among the three countries in view of rigid limits placed by U. S. law on the disclosure to any other country of such information.

Theory Explained

Theoretically if the United States flatly declined to tell the British and Canadians about continuing atomic developments in this country, they could as bluntly refuse to co-operate in assuring the United States maximum supplies of uranium ore. However, no informed official now expects that to happen.

What seems more likely, according to American informants, is that President Truman will seek Congressional sanction to give Britain and Canada more information than they have heretofore received.

Britain and Canada, for their part, are expected to continue supporting maximum allocations of uranium ore to the United States—even though in the end they may not obtain all the information they would like to have.

Lane Criticized For 'Indecision'

BALTIMORE, Nov. 22 (AP)—A Republican today criticized Governor Lane for "indecision" in dealing with Maryland's mental hospitals and the Baltimore County Grand Jury urged him to name a mental hygiene commissioner immeditely.

Stanley Scherr, young Republican national committeeman for Maryland, made his statement in connection with the resignation yesterday of Dr. Robert B. May as head of the Eastern Shore State Hospital.

Dr. May said he was quitting because of insecurity he said resulted from the delay in naming a mental hygiene commissioner.

Scherr charged "it was simply another of Governor Lane's characteristic acts of indecision which caused Dr. May to resign.

"As long as this sort of thing continues, all our good men are going to drift away to other states x x"

"As far as the rest of the mental hospital situation is concerned, the Governor's actions have been inadequate. This money for new buildings," Scherr said, "will never improve the condition of the unfortunate inmates nor their medial treatment until something is done about higher wages and better living conditions for employes."

The Baltimore County Grand Jury report, in addition to calling for the immediate naming of a mental hygiene commissioner, also asks for an investigation of building plans.

In a report to Judge J. Howard Murray, it called for a probe to determine when new building construction is to start at Spring Grove and other state mental institutions.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP)—John David Provoo, 26th American to be charged with treason in World War Two, pleaded innocent today and said he had been in jail two and a half years "without counsel or hearing."

A Real Thanksgiving Day Problem

Down on the Lawrence Turkey Farm in Molena, Ga., two-year-old Zack Lawrence, looks over the between 4,000 and 5,000 fowls that his father has raised while sister Bobbie, 3, armed with an axe, studies the more serious business of preparing Zack's pick for the Thanksgiving table. All of their trouble arises from the huge selection and you can bet neither is worried about not having turkey Thursday.

Army Denies It Ignored Low Bid To Give Contract

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—The Army promptly denied today the accusation by a congressional witness that it awarded a $100,000 contract to Westinghouse Electric Company although another firm was allegedly the low bidder.

Orville Morrison, president of the Sunroc Refrigerator Company, Philadelphia, aired the story before a House Judiciary Subcommittee which is looking into monopolistic practices.

Morrison charged that Army specifications on the order to Westinghouse for refrigeration equipment were drawn up so as to fit only Westinghouse products. The result, he said, was that his firm lost out.

The Philadelphia manufacturer said the government is paying $40 to $60 more per unit to get the same type of equipment his company manufactures.

Congressional demands for an investigation of the case were quickly countered by the Army, which said in a statement late today:

"The Army has requested and welcomes the opportunity to be heard in the matter before the House Judiciary Committee relating to its purchase of water coolers x x x"

In reply to Morrison's contention that its specifications were so drawn as to cover only Westinghouse equipment, the Army statement said that "10 responsible refrigeration suppliers agreed to furnish water coolers in compliance with the specifications."

11-Year-Old Boy Survives Plane Crash That Killed 34

OSLO, Norway, Nov. 22 (AP) — An 11-year-old Jewish refugee boy emerged today as the sole survivor of a plane wreck that brought death to 34 persons — 27 other children and seven adults.

He is Isaac Allal, 11. His two brothers and a sister were among the dead. All 28 children were being flown from Tunisia to Norway for six months rest and rehabilitation when their Dutch transport plane lost its bearings and crashed Sunday night.

Search parties found the wreckage on a densely wooded hillside 30 miles southwest of Oslo.

The twin-engined DC-3 transport, object of a four-nation sea, air and land search, was carrying four Dutch crewmen and three nurses in addition to the children.

A police officer in charge of operations at the scene said 31 bodies had been recovered, 26 of them children. The other three bodies are believed to be under the wreckage.

Isaac was sitting in his chair at the very tail of the plane when a party of home guardsmen, headed by Thorolf Hagen, reached the scene more than 42 hours after the crash.

He blinked and told his rescuers in halting French that he felt "not bad."

Thought able to walk, he was hustled on a stretcher to an ambulance and taken to the hospital at Drammen, 10 miles away.

There the chief physician described his injuries as a scratched nose, a swollen wrist and slight burns.

"It is almost a miracle," said the doctor. Though suffering no apparent shock, it was hours before the boy told his name.

Asked if he knew where he was, Allal replied, "Yes, I am in Norway. No?"

Sugar Pills "Cure" Colds, "Make" Some Persons Dizzy

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP)—People who took sugar pills, thinking they were anti-cold pills, reported many cures of their colds, a physician said today.

And 10 per cent of those taking the fake, useless pills said they became dizzy, sleepy, had headaches, or other effects.

The tests are described in the Illinois Medical Journal by Captain John M. Brewster, U. S. Naval Hospital at Philadelphia. Dr. Brewster was one of the first researchers to report that anti-allergy drugs often stop colds, if the colds are caught early. The belief is that colds start with an allergic reaction.

His new tests were made with one of the drugs, phenindamine (tradename thephorin-roche). The pills were given to servicemen and civilians who came in for them when they had early signs of a cold.

Dr. Brewster said 54 per cent of those taking the pills were cured within 24 hours, if they started the pills within six hours after the cold signs appeared. Seventy-five per cent reported cures or relief when they took the drug within 48 hours after the cold started.

But 20 per cent of the people coming in for pills were fooled. They were given placebos, or harmless, useless pills that looked exactly like the phenindamine pills.

Of these, 32 per cent reported cures of their colds when they took the fake pills early, six hours after the cold signs appeared.

This was unexpected and disturbing, Dr. Brewster said. He thinks the answer is that the first allergic reaction often disappears by itself, with no cold developing. This could "account for the many times one believes he is catching cold, only to have it disappear without treatment."

Md. May Call Assembly To Correct Error

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 22 (AP)—The possibility grew today that a special session of the General Assembly may be held within the next few weeks to correct a clerical error that invalidated Maryland's $50,000,000 "credit pool" for school construction.

The Court of Appeals threw out the law last week after it had been found that, through error, there was no record of the bill passing the Senate during the 1949 session.

A spokesman for Governor Lane said that the governor had "left the door open" for a special session.

Truman Promises Aid To Starving

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP) — President Truman today promised full American co-operation in a global battle against the age-old scourge of starvation and hunger.

He said the United States aims to help "create an abundance of food for all countries" by working together with other nations and by sharing American farming techniques.

Mr. Truman gave this pledge in an address to representatives of 58 nations attending the annual conference of the food and agriculture organization of the United Nations (FAO).

Noting that the parley is being held during this country's Thanksgiving season the President told the delegates that the harvest festival has a two-fold significance.

"It is one mark of civilization to be able to produce abundantly. But it is a more important mark to be able to use abundance for the welfare of mankind."

Mr. Truman declared the United States "wholeheartedly" supports the FAO in this "major co-operative endeavor toward our common objective of a stable and peaceful world."

"If by working together in this organization we can create an abundance of food for all countries," he said, "we shall bring better health, longer lives and greater happiness to mankind everywhere."

The President did not lay down any specific proposals for the delegates to consider, but he pointed out that the United Nations agency is confronted by two major problems:

"The first is to increase the production of foodstuffs and other agricultural commodities. The second is to see that those commodities reach the peoples and countries which need them."

Chiang Reported Giving Li's War Plan Approval

HONG KONG, Wednesday, Nov. 23 (AP) — Chiang Kai-Shek today reportedly offered Acting President Li Tsung-Jen his long-demanded chance to fight the civil war his own way, with Li's own general in supreme command.

The China Mail said it had learned from sources close to Li that the dramatic offer was made in a personal letter from Chiang in Chungking to Li, now in this British Crown Colony.

It is known Vice Premier Chu Chia-Hwa arrived yesterday with a personal letter from the Generalissimo asking Li to return to Chungking. Li is here ostensibly for treatment of a stomach ailment.

The newspaper said this was the gist of the Chiang offer.

Li to return to Chungking. Li to have full presidential powers. As a further concession, he may appoint his friend, Gen. Pai Chung-Hsi, as overall commander of the Nationalists' Army, Navy and Air Forces.

This is something that Li has been reported demanding all along. Pai, one of the ablest of the Nationalist generals, commands a 200,000-man army in the southern province of Kwangsi.

Presumably, Pai would be given authority over the armed forces retained by Chiang on the fortress island of Formosa.

(It would appear, however, that Chiang would insist on retaining control of the forces on Formosa. He has been represented often as determined to keep Formosa a fortress even if all is lost on the mainland.)

People's Court Ends 'Probe' Of Consul General

Announcement Gives New Urgency To U. S. Efforts To Free 5

By EDWARD E. BOMAR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—The Chinese Communists reported today that their "people's court" at Mukden has finished an investigation and will give a verdict on American Consul General Angus Ward and four members of his staff "in a matter of days."

This first word on their fate was received by the State Department and gave new urgency to American efforts to free the five from jail.

Two versions of a Mukden radio broadcast reported from Nanking and Changhai call Ward and his staff members "criminals" and "culprits" and said they have been questioned repeatedly since their arrest October 24. They were charged with beating a Chinese employe of the consulate.

Charges "Trumped Up"

The State Department, which has denounced the charges as "trumped up," meanwhile was awaiting first responses from the 30 nations to which Secretary Acheson addressed an unprecedented appeal for concerted international action in behalf of the jailed consul. Acheson's message went to the foreign ministers of Russia and of four eastern European Soviet satellites, among others.

The British Foreign Office expressed "concern" today over Ward's detention, and said the American call for a concerted protest is being considered.

There appeared to be little doubt that the western governments would go along, but there was a big question whether Moscow would join in bringing pressure on its Chinese protege. Today's development raised new uncertainties — whether the Mukden court will go ahead with a communist-style trial regardless of the international outcry, and if so whether it will decree stiff jail terms or impose merely nominal sentences.

In an official message to the State Department, American Consular officials at Shanghai said the Nanking newspaper Hsin Min Pao of November 22 quoted the Mukden radio station as announcing:

Questioned Many Times

"The American Imperialist Ward and four criminals who brutally beat the Chinese Workmen Chi Yu-Heng and Chi Yu-Feng had been questioned many times since they were turned over to the Mukden people's court."

This account said Ward and his associates had been brought face to face with their accusers and both sides have made statements. "The investigation of Ward has now been completed and within a short time the final questioning will take place and the verdict will be announced," the radio said.

A second recording of the broadcast came from the Shanghai newspaper Sin Wen Jih Pao. This referred to Ward as an "American imperialist element who assaulted and insulted" the two Chinese.

Under Communist Court procedure, persons charged with criminal offences undergo searching investigation while in jail and trials commonly are used mainly for recording the verdict already decided upon.

Officials concerned over Ward's welfare are hopeful that even if Acheson's proposal for concerted international action fails, Ward and his staff will escape further jail sentences and may be permitted to leave Mukden, as they have sought to do since last May. The practice of other Communist regimes has been to exploit charges against Americans at times, but to expel them rather than send them to jail.

Changes His Mind

Panama's Ousted President Leads Riot; Boy 6, Killed

PANAMA, PANAMA, Nov. 22 (AP)—Dr. Daniel Chanis, ousted president of Panama, led thousands of demonstrators tonight in a march on the residence of his successor. The national police broke up the near revolt with gunfire that killed a six-year-old boy and wounded five others, including a member of Parliament.

Chanis' dramatic and unlooked for appearance before the National Assembly set off the demonstration. He tore up a letter of resignation he signed three days ago and announced:

"I withdraw my resignation."

Hundreds of persons in the galleries streamed out of the building into the streets crying "to presidencia!"

They were joined by others who marched toward the official residence of Roberto Chiari, the man who succeeded Chanis in a lightning coup on Sunday.

Mounted and federal police charged down the thoroughfare in an attempt to break up any march on the Presidential residence.

The crowd grew in number. Estimates of those who pushed toward the President's residence ranged from 10,000 to 30,000.

Machine gun and rifle fire crackled. Eyewitnesses said the fire was directed at the demonstrators.

Some took refuge behind palm trees as the bullets whizzed past. Cars in the street were riddled.

Chanis was at the head of the procession as it marched, eyewitnesses said. There was no immediate word on what happened to him, but it was known he was in the crowd when the firing began.

Woman Is Wed As Her Eight Great-Grandchildren Watch

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 22 (AP)—Eight youngsters, eight months to eight years old, watched their great-grandmother, Mrs. Catherine Ginther, 67, marry Charles Ward, 82, last night.

The bride apologized for the lack of one great-grandchild. She said: "There's really nine, but my little eight-month-old great-granddaughter had to stay home with a cold."

Other wedding-watchers included three of the bride's five children and 22 of her 25 grandchildren.

The newlyweds met last September while both were enroute to California, Mrs. Ginther to visit a son, Ward to visit a daughter. Ward was widowed two years ago. Mrs. Ginther's husband died in 1939

Their friendship, aided by the United States Postoffice Department, soon blossomed into love.

They'll leave tomorrow for Wisconsin Dells, Wisc., where five of Ward's eight children live. He also has 15 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

The new Mrs. Ward isn't at all dismayed at her sudden acquisition of a whole new brood of children and so forth. The blushing bride laughed:

"Oh, I won't mind it. The first dozen are the hardest.

1950 Cars Will Be Hard To Get For Some Time

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT, Nov. 22 (AP)—Most 1950 cars are going to be hard to get—for a while at least.

But once the auto industry gets its normal flow of supplies it probably will swing into its highest post-war production rate. This, according to all current indications, should start some time around the end of January.

Normally that time isn't a high production season for the auto makers, but the industry will lose much volume during the next two months because of depleted steel inventories.

Despite the closing or slowing down of many assembly plants because of steel shortages it begins to appear the 1949 output total may go over the 6,000,000 unit mark.

So far this year United States factories have built more than 5,753,000 cars and trucks. Thus they have more than five weeks in which to turn out another quarter million vehicles.

This seems like an easy task. But production in the weeks immediately ahead will be the poorest of the year. The next month will also show just how hard the steel tieup hit the auto factories.

The major car makers now are engaged in new model output or are trying to get started on 1950 models. New model planning of most of them was upset by the shortage of steel.

The auto makers, of course, were cheered by the ending of the steel strike. They are emphatic, however, in their assertions that vehicle production cannot escape the effects of the steel mill shutdowns. They are worried, too, about the possibility of another coal tieup.

A long Thanksgiving weekend will cut sharply into vehicle output this week. The total for the week may not go much above 60,000 units.

Last week the factories built 109,661 cars and trucks. This was only slightly down from the preceding week.

The Next Step In The Mining Controversy

President Truman's statement that he will invoke the Taft-Hartley Act in the coal dispute if a national emergency results from a resumption of the strike ten days from now has caused a good deal of surprise —an unpleasant surprise for John L. Lewis. Most observers had supposed that the President would appoint a fact-finding board before ever considering a Federal injunction against another coal walkout.

The operators would have agreed, though reluctantly, to such a procedure. But it is understood that Lewis opposed it. He prefers to have as little to do with government as possible. Yet if the coal strike is resumed on the threshold of Winter, the government will be forced before long to step in to protect the national health and welfare and the interests of the miners and their families.

In the coal operators' view, a national emergency is already here. Certainly it would arrive soon enough if 350,000 miners were called out again three weeks after their 52-day strike was conditionally called off. But the President could hardly be expected to make a flat advance pledge to invoke the law on a certain date, as long as there remains any hope of a collective bargaining agreement between Lewis and the operators.

It is to Mr. Truman's credit that he has made bluntly clear his readiness to seek an injunction against a nation-wide strike—as he has done several times before—under a law which he vetoed and which remains his chief political target, but one which would give to miners the right to uninterrupted work while their union representatives and spokemen for the operators sit down to iron out differences over a new working contract.

The Army has notified horse shows it can no longer participate in public equestrian exhibitions because it has only 327 horses now, most of which are strictly work animals. But the Army has 330 generals, including Vaughan, and couldn't it enter some of these in some sort of a show?

Is A Firm Policy In China In The Making?

President Truman, evidently, has decided that the State Department policy of "waiting for the dust to settle" just won't do in Red China.

The polite restraint of Secretary Acheson in dealing with the case of U.S. Consul General Angus Ward and four members of his staff, who have been imprisoned by the Communists at Mukden, has been contemptuously ignored by the Peiping regime. But it has aroused first bewilderment, then indignation and now anger on the part of the American people. At his latest press conference Mr. Truman reflected that sentiment when he roundly denounced the incident as "an outrage," and indicated that the United States will stop marking time.

This incident and a number of minor ones have a studied pattern. They are aimed at stiffening the back of the Red Chinese government by causing a great power to lose face.

What's to be done about it? The insults are no easier to swallow than the fact that this country has been neatly outmaneuvered in Asia.

It is galling to learn that we may appeal to Soviet Russia to intervene on our behalf with the Peiping outfit. But there is much evidence that the Russians are directly responsible for whatever the Chinese Reds do or fail to do in Manchuria. In any event, Mr. Truman seems to have decided that the United States can no longer look on, like a mesmerized rabbit, at the spread of militant Communism through East Asia. He has called a conference of American Asiatic envoys, to be held at Bangkok in January, to help devise a defensive strategy.

One important by-product of the Ward incident is Britain's decision to postpone recognition of the Peiping regime and not to act in any event until it has consulted the dominions and the United States. That is a happy and timely decision. British recognition of a regime which has seized our government servants and has held them in jail for months on trumped-up charges would cause, in the language of diplomacy, a "decidedly unfavorable reaction" from the American public.

Rejoicing over record crops now is restrained by the knowledge that they certainly call for a lot of tax subsidies.

Stalin, Like Hitler, Sends "Gauleiter" Ahead

The parallel between the oppressive tactics of Hitler and Stalin is remarkably close to all whose eves have not been blinded by propaganda or dimmed by liberal naivete.

Whenever Hitler's legions or fifth columns seized a country he would send in a "Gauleiter" to erase opposition and fit the victim's political and economic life into the Nazi scheme. Stalin is doing the same thing in the same way in countries under his domination in Eastern Europe. Thanks to the Cominform, the satellite states are being purged of anti-Communists and even of Communist leaders who do not toe the line traced from Moscow.

The most striking example today is Poland, which has had foisted on itself a Russian army general as Minister of Defense and overseer of its armed forces. The Red Gauleiter, Marshal Rokossovsky, has lost no time in getting down to work. While the Polish army is being purged of non-Communists, former Vice Premier and Communist party Secretary-General Gomulka has been ousted from the party and is apparently headed for a treason trial. A similar trial in Hungary ended in the execution of the eminent Communist leader Rajk.

No doubt Gomulka, like Rajk, will be charged with espionage on behalf of "imperialist America and Britain." The charge, in both cases, is absurd. Gomulka, like Rajk, was an ardent and ruthless Communist. His crime, like Rajk's, is that he did not approve the Russian campaign to destroy Communist Marshal Tito for defying Kremlin orders.

Every satellite state is now being bound and hogtied to the Soviet Union. Soon they will not even be satellites, but rather provinces of "Greater Russia," in the Soviet "Drang nach Westen." Like other supposedly victorious countries, tragic Poland lost the war at Yalta and Potsdam.

Evidently it was one of the chaps who never miss a radio commercial who referred to his best girl as having "that built-in goodness," previously attributed only to breakfast cereals.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Relaxation in Hypertension

THE successful treatment of high blood pressure requires more than a few tablets to "settle the nerves." Sedatives may help, but much more can be accomplsihed if the victim is able to adjust his life to cope with the condition. In this way strain on the heart and blood vessels is minimized.

It is a good policy for every one with an elevated pressure to pause from time to time and ask themselves whether everything possible is being done to remain calm and relaxed. This is not easy, as the hypertensive individual is upset easily by trivial matters leading to anxiety, fear, irritability, and resentment. This emotional pattern is seen frequently and we do not know whether it is cause or effect. Many are alternately aggresisve and totally dependent upon others. So long as the sailing is smooth they do well, but any interference with their plans is likely to prove upsetting. The majority, however, would gain by learning to adjust to petty annoyances thru the development of a philosofic outlook toward life.

Such unpleasantries as irritating noises, unkind remarks, and discourtesies must be overlooked. Words such as "hurry," "rush," and "urgent" have no place in their vocabulary. They must realize that missing a bus or train is of little consequence because another will be along shortly. In addition, worry and apprehension get them nowhere and becoming angry merely helps the opponent.

The battle is half won by those who are armed with this approach. Sufficient rest also is beneficial because the emotions are difficult to control when fatigued. The plan of obtaining nine hours' sleep at night along with a short nap in the afternoon will induce relaxation after it becomes a habit. If the indivdiual's job creates too much of a strain, and a redistribution of the work is not possible, a change in occupation may be demanded.

Most of the medicines used in hypertension encourage rest and alleviate apprehension thru their sedative effect. Others dilate the blood vessels in an attempt to reduce arterial tension. Severing the sympathetic nerves has a similar influence, but rarely is required unless the pressure is excessive and does not respond to the usual remedies. The best results and tests are available to determine ahead of time whether the procedure is feasible.

Diet also plays a role in the obese who must lose weight as well as in those with kidney or cardiac complications. The latter group are given foods low in sodium, a constituent of ordinary table sale. These menus are difficult to prepare and the most strict regimen has been dubbed the "rice diet" because this food is the major ingredient.

• — • — •

There are many other tips for the hypertensive. Smoking and stimulants generally are taboo because they have a tendency to raise the pressure. Small amounts of alcohol often have the opposite effect. Some consolation also may be had from the knowledge that the height of the reading is not the important consideration. Of greater significance is the condition of the heart and blood vessels; if these structures are not impaired there is no need to be concerned. Furthermore, when the diastolic level is within respectable limits a normal life expectancy may be anticipated.

TOMORROW: Counting our blessings aids mental hygiene.

If the circulation is adequate, and there is no evidence of infection, a skin graft may be needed to cover the opening. Otherwise measures must be instituted to improve the blood flow to the affected site, especially if arteriosclerosis exists. When infection is present, an attempt should be made to determine the causative organism so that the most appropriate antibiotic (penicillin, steptomycin, or tyrothricin) may be used.

THE GREAT TRADITIONS OF AMERICAN COOKING

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Sen. McCarran Gives Franco Some Public Relations Tips; Medical Bureaucrats Are the Country's Unsung Heroes; Doctors Risk Lives

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22—Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada, No. 1 enemy of Europe's homeless refugees, has now set himself up as chief volunteer public relations counsel to Europe's No. 1 fascist dictator.

On his latest junket abroad, supposedly to "investigate the current refugee situation," McCarran gave Spain's Francisco Franco some shrewdly cynical advice on how to make friends and influence people. In the course of two lengthy interviews, the Senator from Nevada assured his attentive host that "with a little smart handling at this end, Spain can be right back in the front parlor by this time next year."

McCarran happens to represent a state containing less than one-tenth of one per cent of the U. S. population, and most Nevadans are not the slightest bit interested in Franco. Nevertheless, McCarran did not hesitate to speak for all the American people.

"The overwhelming majority of the American people," he said, "are convinced that your country has been given a raw deal. It's just a question now of pounding the point home and getting enough pressure put on enough congressmen to whip the State Department pinks."

A "healthy bloc of Senators," McCarran added, are prepared to advocate, early in the next congressional session, that the United States sponsor Spain's admission to specialized agencies of the United Nations. "They are also prepared to put the heat on a few of our European charity patients so that you can get invited into that western union club of theirs," McCarran said.

"However," McCarran warned Franco, "don't let your pride keep you from blowing your own horn, good and loud. You've got to keep telling everybody that Spain deserves a place on the anti-Communist team. Don't bother about anything else, or answer any other criticism; just keep hitting that one line ,and you'll make the grade."

Franco, whose background hasn't given him much experience in molding public opinion, must have been grateful for these tips. For less than a week later, Franco followed McCarran's suggestions closely in an exclusive interview with a U. S. correspondent.

Radio Madrid, on its short-wave broadcasts to the Americas, has also begun to bear down heavily on "Spain's contributions to the struggle of western civilization against Russian communist barbarism." High point of these propaganda blurbs is the cryptic declaration: "If it hadn't been for Spain, England would now probably be the only free nation in western Europe."

Unsung Bureaucrats

Thousands of words have been rained upon the reading public about the inequities of bureaucrats. However, there are bureaucrats and bureaucrats and without some of them, the government couldn't function today.

For instance, a handful of medical bureaucrats are risking death and disease every day to safeguard the health of others. The door outside their bureau at Bethesda, Md., might be covered with quarantine signs, but one sign alone tells the story: "Infectious diseases."

Inside, doctors and assistants are exploring with microscopes and test tubes, seeking cures for everything from polio to the common cold. At one time or other, nearly everyone on the staff has been bedridden with some disease; at least three have died during the past decade—victims of their own research.

For such risks, these doctors are paid a modest government salary, ranging from $4,500 to $10,000, though they could earn far more in private practice. They don't work for the glory either, since their discoveries are kept anonymous by the public health service. Yet their selfless research goes on.

The doctor in charge of polio research, for example, is Dr. Charles Armstrong who spent eight months in bed and nearly died from Tularemia, or rabbit fever, and also came down with dengue fever, parrot fever, Q fever and encephalitis on other assignments. He is now searching desperately for a serum that will prevent polio, is testing other diseases which might be given as an inoculation against polio. He has finally traced the coxaxe virus, which causes a mild disease sometimes mistaken for polio, to suckling mice.

No Cure For Colds

Another research task force, under Dr. Leon Atlas, is exploring the common cold. He has already isolated the elusive virus which causes colds, has proven this by dropping the virus into the nostrils of volunteers from the District of Columbia jail. However, Dr. Atlas has also discovered there are many types of colds—caused by other viruses, allergies and mild diseases that do not go past the preliminary, stuffed-up-nose stage.

Dr. Atlas still hasn't discovered a serum or drug to prevent colds. In fact, he warns against using any drugs, including the antihistaminic drugs which have been ballyhooed in full-page ads as a cold cure.

"As yet," he cautions, "there are no adequate and convincing studies that demonstrate unequivocally that any drug or combination of drugs will prevent or influence the course, severity or duration of colds."

Two other researchers, Dr. Charles Shepard and Dr. Robert Huebner, have made encouraging progress in the fight against Q fever—and as usual, caught Q fever in the process. They traced this fever to the milk of infected dairy cows, particularly in the Los Angeles area. However, they still haven't located the actual virus that causes the disease.

Dr. Huebner also solved an epidemic of rickettsial pox that cropped up in a New York City apartment district. Huebners' experiments showed the disease was carried by house mice and transmitted by mites, so by cracking down on the mice, the epidemic was checked.

Doing field work in Texas, Dr. James Watt traced bacillary dysentery to flies and was able almost to eliminate it by fly control. Now he is continuing his experiments in another area near New Orleans.

Another disease, which means almost certain infection to anyone experimenting with it, is Bangs disease or brucellosis. No one has suffered more from this disease than Dr. Alice Evans who did the pioneer research at the Bethesda Laboratory. She has now retired, however, and turned the work over to Dr. Carl Larson.

All research in the laboratory is under the general supervision of Dr. Karl Habel, who has been bedridden with Q fever and encephalitis, but is now searching for a more potent rabies vaccine.

These doctors are just a few of the unsung bureaucrats who are giving the taxpayers their money's worth.

Note—To cut down the alarming disease and death rate, the public health service built a new, modern laboratory for these doctors in 1946. Inside the air is sucked away from the researchers, then heated to 450 degrees in order to kill all germs before being discharged into the atmosphere. In spite of such precautions, the doctors still catch the diseases they are studying.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

A Magic Word

SINCE Secretary of State Dean Acheson and E. C. A. Chief Paul Hoffman returned from their respective trips to Europe, it has become increasingly clear that American policy in Europe revolves about one magic word. This word is "integration." And it is about time to inquire what this word really means to Acheson, Hoffman, and the other American policy-makers.

A groper through the fog which more and more obscures American foreign policy soon discovers that "integration" is the wrong word. To integrate, according to the dictionary, means "to unite or become united so as to form a more complete or perfect whole," which would suggest that this country is trying to create a United States of Europe overnight.

In fact, what Acheson and Hoffman are trying to promote is nothing of the sort. The real objective, as one of the authors of the integration project put it, is "to get back to 1910 by 1952." What the United States wants is a Europe whose internal trading relationships are as close as possible to those which existed before the first World War.

Major Aim of Policy

In brief, it is now the major aim of American policy in Europe to eliminate currency controls and export and import restrictions. Ultimately what is wanted is a real economic union, with tariffs eliminated and a central banking system and a common currency created. But all concerned agree that for the foreseeable future this real "integration" is no more than a distant dream.

This apparently rather modest but in fact enormously difficult project for turning the clock back to happier days is envisaged as taking place in a series of stages. In the first stage, there would be three separate groups of "integrated" states—France and Italy, Belgium, Holland, and Luxembourg, and the three Scandinavian countries. The first five countries would then be joined, to form "Fritalux." The Scandinavians would then probably be brought into Fritalux. And finally, Western Germany would be added, to make one big, relatively free trading area in Western Europe.

Britain (to the great relief of the British leaders) is not being pressed to become an active participant in this Acheson-Hoffman project. But while they were in Europe Acheson and Hoffman politely but firmly urged British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Stafford Cripps to give the scheme "encouragement and support." Bevin and Cripps rather reluctantly agreed. The chief British contribution is expected to be firm military and political commitments to France, to balance French fears of a revived Germany.

Since this project now clearly has first priority in American foreign policy, it is deeply important to ask not only what it is expected to accomplish but also what it is not expected to accomplish. Its authors believe that in the long run—the very long run—"integration" will strengthen the economies of Western Europe, and make the continent less dependent on the United States. A more immediately important political objective is to tie the rapidly reviving Western German economy firmly into that of the continent, and thus prevent Germany from turning again against the West.

Highly Commendable Aims

These are highly commendable aims. But it is necessary to examine the other side of the coin. In Europe, two facts stand out like large, sore, sinister thumbs. The first is the imminent threat of British financial collapse, which has by no means been removed by devaluation of the pound, and which would surely be followed by a general economic collapse all over the continent.

The authors of the integration project agree that even if the scheme were whole-heartedly accepted and put into operation immediately, no appreciable economic benefits would accrue for a number of years. Thus the project will NOT deal with a situation which threatens to knock the underpinnings right out from under American foreign policy.

The second fact which stands out in Europe is that Western Europe is still virtually defenseless in the face of the Soviet Union's massive rearmament effort. Again, the integration project will NOT affect the real balance of power, which is rapidly swinging in favor of the Soviet Union.

In one of Chekov's minor short stories there appears the character of a Russian landowner who planned vast improvements on his property, while the roof of his house was falling about his head. Free trade on the continent, leading ultimately to a real continental econ-

Lewis And Truman Sparring For Position In Mine Row

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22—A game of adroit maneuvering seems to be in progress between President Truman and John L. Lewis so that each may avoid responsibility for what happens after December 1, when the coal miners are supposed to go out on strike or continue for another few weeks a sort of truce.

On the face of things, Mr. Lewis has Mr. Truman in a spot. If the President invokes the Taft-Hartley Act powers and secures an injunction for 80 days, it will be tantamount to saying that big unionism cannot be restrained from excesses without use of the government's injunction power.

This is an argument that the Administration had hoped to keep out of the hands of the groups in Congress which have been urging a retention of the injunction provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act. For it would mean that the outright repeal of the law is plainly not in the public interest and that restraints must be maintained.

For a while it looked as if Mr. Lewis could rely on the President not to use the injunction process. But it was pointedly revealed by the President himself last week that he would not hesitate to invoke the injunction method because it is still the law of the land.

Not Compulsory To Act

The law, however, doesn't compel the President to seek an injunction. It merely says he may do so whenever a crisis develops or may develop which could imperil national health and safety. By letting the United Mine Workers Union know now that the injunction would be applied for if the situation became serious, Mr. Truman was telling Mr. Lewis that the next move was up to him.

Mr. Lewis, on the other hand, has been known to play poker, too. He will not reveal his intentions until the last minute. It has been assumed that he would not order the miners out on December 1 but would await the injunction and use it as an excuse to keep the miners at work, while at the same time denouncing the Administration for using the Taft-Hartley law.

For some strange reason Mr. Lewis has not come down to cases in his conferences with the coal operators, so that they claim not to know just what he wants in a settlement. This is one reason why the federal mediation and conciliation service to date has not been able to make progress and why it has reported to the White House that the parties are far apart.

Mr. Lewis could issue a statement just before December 1, saying he wanted to make the country a Christmas present. He could announce that, in order to meet the public convenience, he wants the miners to stay at work another six weeks. This would mean he was ready to make some effort to bargain with the operators and reach a settlement in the interim.

If, on the other hand, the Administration waits till the miners go out on December 1 and lets a coal crisis develop and then applies for an injunction, the country will criticize the President as having waited too long to do his duty. Will John Lewis force Mr. Truman into that dilemma?

Sparring For Position

With the White House and John Lewis sparring for position among the labor-vote groups, it is possible for the strike situation to reach a climax after December 1. The big question is when does the emergency occur? Is it now, when the mine workers' chief says the miners should work only until December 1? Is it when the union chief announces what is to happen after December 1? Can the President wait until one day before December 1 to make up his mind what to?

The problem is a very difficult one for the President to solve. Although the labor chiefs generally want to see the Taft-Hartley Act repealed, they know Mr. Truman cannot afford to jeopardize his position with the unorganized workers as well as with many of the organized union members. They want him to stop a coal strike.

Around Washington there is a feeling that Mr. Lewis has lost this strike already, that many miners are restless and will not quit on December 1 if they should be ordered out. But there's no telling what cards John L. Lewis will play —and this time it looks as if he must keep the miners at work after December 1 or face the worst defeat of his career in subsequent negotiations.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

ON May 31, the State Department notified Angus Ward, the American consul - general in Mukden, to close up shop and come home. The Chinese Communists or the Russians would not permit him or his wife or any of the other officers to leave. On June 23, Angus Ward managed to notify the State Department that he had made contact with a commissar of Red China. On October 24, it was announced by Soviet China over the radio that the American consul - general, Angus Ward, had been arrested for slapping a Chinese, a former employe of the American consulate.

Obviously, if he is held on the charge of slapping a Chinese in October, why has he been detained since May? Is he alive? Is he in Mukden? Is he in a Siberian prison camp? Is he dead? Where is his wife?

The charge of slapping does not sound real. After all, Angus Ward is 56 years old. He has had a long and important career in the service of our government since he went to war in 1917. He has been in China, on and off, since 1925. He knows the customs of that country, and the habits of the Chinese. It is not likely that such a man would slap a Chinese, except in self-defense or to protect his wife or to keep a swine from spitting on our flag. It had to be a dire provocation, if it happened at all. For look at this man's career:

He was born in Canada but lived as a youth in Chassel, Michigan. He joined up when we went into World War I, serving as a first lieutenant, 1917-1919. He then became attached to the American relief administration in Finland and Russia under Herbert Hoover. When he returned to the United States, he engaged in shipping and export, but soon became a timber valuation engineer for the Bureau of Internal Revenue of the Treasury department. In 1925, he joined the United States foreign service, his first post being Mukden. Thence, he served in Tientsin, Moscow, Vladivostok, and Teheran. In 1946, he was appointed consul-general in Mukden, Manchuria.

Anyone familiar with our foreign service knows that these men in the field are a hard-working, competent lot. A man holding such posts as Angus Ward has held will have a working knowledge of the Chinese and Russian languages, the history of the countries, the habits and activities of the people. He will have conditioned himself to work, in his country's interest, with all sorts of people.

In such places as Mukden, Tientsin and Vladivostok, he would live among Chinese, Japanese, Russians, Mongols and Koreans, to say nothing of Europeans. I have been in those cities often. I know the normal environment and atmosphere — and little of it is normal. I was in both Mukden and Tientsin at the start of Ward's career in those cities.

He must be good to have come through to a consul-generalship in Mukden. Such a man does not slap a servant — and he does not betray his country's honor and dignity.

A consular officer is usually an administrative and commercial rather than a diplomatis official. But in countries like China, where areas are distant from the national capital, or where there is constant civil war and revolution, a consular officer takes on the functions and immunities of a diplomat. He is entiled to the respect of person and under no circumstances may a government invade his premises and seize his files.

The suggestion that our State Department appeal to Soviet Russia for aid in freeing Angus Ward is undignified. Have we sunk so low; is our national honor so abandoned; have we become so cowardly that we expose our weakness.

I would say from my experience in China, that Ward was seized by the Chinese Communists, upon instructions from their Russian masters to prove to the Chinese people that the United States is less than nothing. For Russia to rescue Ward would further reduce our nation prestige and dignity.

There is only one solution: Let General MacArthur go into Mukden to bring Angus Ward and his wife out alive — or dead.

Taft Says $100 Pension At 65 Would Cost $12 Billion

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP) — Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said today it would cost $12,000,000,000 a year to pay $100 a month pensions to all persons over 65 years of age.

The Ohio Republican raised numerous critical questions about the $100-monthly pension agreements that settled the recent steel strike, as well as similar pensions which went to aged coal miners until the United Mine Workers Welfare Fund suspended payments in September.

Taft said the whole subject of pensions in industry and government "is in such complete confusion today that it should receive the most careful study" by Congress.

He added that the Senate Finance Committee, which handles social security and tax legislation, should tackle the overall pension problem when it meets in January. He is a member of that committee.

Taft's comments were in a weekly release from his office here intended primarily for Ohio newspapers. The Senate GOP policy chairman is using this method in his drive for re-election next year in addition to frequent speeches and visits throughout the state.

Taft said the $100 a month pensions in the steel and coal industries indicate a trend toward a "flat sum for all, along the lines of the Townsend plan." He pointed out that this differs widely from the federal old age insurance plan. Under the Social Security system the size of pension payments is determined by wages received in working years.

Inflation Still Plagues Economy, Eccles Declares

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP) — Marriner S. Eccles said today the nation's economy still is plagued by "inflationary" pressures which he attributed in part to the government itself.

To help stabilize the situation he urged a clamp on consumer credit and greater authority for the Federal Reserve Board to regulate the volume of bank loans through tighter reserve requirements.

Eccles, a member of the Federal Reserve Board of Governors, expressed these views to a Senate-House Economic Subcommittee which is studying government monetary, fiscal and credit policies.

"Prices are being held up by government action," particularly in the housing and agricultural fields, he said.

He cited as other inflationary factors the present labor wage policy, private corporate pension plans and increased public indebtedness.

Offsetting these, however, Eccles pointed to the "increased productivity" of this country's industrial machine. He said he believes that "supply will overtake demand along the line."

Fair Weather

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP) — Most of the nation will have generally fair weather for Thanksgiving, the Weather Bureau said in a special nationwide forecast tonight.

TALK ABOUT OPERATIONS—Four-month-old Jimmy Moorehead won't lack for subject matter when he gets old enough to talk. He has already undergone three major operations since his premature birth July 30. Southern Governors Pick Thurmond As Group Head

BILOXI, Miss., Nov. 22 (AP) — The Southern Governors Conference wound up today with the 1948 states' rights candidate for president as its head, bolstered by only a watered-down states' rights resolution.

Without hesitation, the Dixie executives installed as their chairman Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, the states' rights standard bearer.

They were more wary, though, when it came to making their official pronouncement bearing on a Democratic Party schism between regulars and states' righters.

Leander Perez of Point-A-La-Hache, La., national director of the States' Rights Party, had a red-hot resolution ready for action. It was dropped, though, even before it got to the conference.

Instead, the governors adopted a measure castigating in relatively safe and non-controversial terms "government regimentation of the individual citizen." In the same sure-fire verbiage, the resolution objected to "socialization of competitive industry."

It was thought up by a rather unexpectedly paired team of authors — Govs. Earl K. Long of Louisiana and Herman Talmadge of Georgia.

Ardent states' righters were obviously, if not admittedly, disappointed at the lukewarm treatment given their political idealism at the conference.

They were hopeful, first, that Former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes would go all out for them in his speech last night. Byrnes did lambast the national administration headed by President Truman. He indicted it for excessive taxing and spending but said he didn't see much hope of a change — not right away.

He reminded the governors that certain powers are reserved to the states by the constitution. He told the executives to "stand up and fight" for all these prerogatives.

The governors, state's righters and otherwise, hailed the speech as safe, sound and timely. But, they all agreed, it wasn't too partisan.

The former Secretary of State said recently he is considering running for governor in his native South Carolina. Politically-wise observers thought this may have influenced him to avoid stirring turmoil and controversy by a more sharply-worded address.

Some of the States' Righters had dared hope earlier that the ex-secretary might become their flagbearer. They received no encouragement at all from him on that point.

Truman To Fight For Health Plan

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP)—Federal Security Administrator Oscar Ewing served notice today the Truman Administration expects to put up a stiff fight for the president's Health Insurance plan in the next session of Congress.

He did so in announcing that he is leaving next week for an on-the-spot study of Britain's health plan and Sweden's social security setup.

Ewing said the trip is a preliminary step toward renewing the fight in Congress for the President's health insurance program and the creation of a Federal Department of Welfare. He said there will be "no let up" in the campaign.

County Infirmary Nearing Capacity

Dr. Arthur Jones, county physician, told the County Board of Commissioners yesterday that the new Infirmary is rapidly being filled to capacity with patients, and before long the county again will be faced with a waiting list of aged and infirm persons needing care.

The situation will not be as pressing, however, as it was before the new infirmary was built and opened, but indications are there will be a waiting list before many more weeks. He predicted, however, that the institution should prove adequate to meet the need at a reasonable rate for some time.

The board acted on the committments of several patients to the infirmary and the asylum.

LES BIFFLE thoroughly enjoyed having his back scratched by Truman . . . Taking the cure at Hot Springs, Ark. (he's back now), weary Senate Secretary Biffle was baking the aching out of his bones in the steam room. Someone called in "Oh, Mr. Biffle, I'm sending Truman in to give you a good rub."

"To curtsy or not to curtsy." That was the question!

At the reception given by the shining Shah of Iran at the Shoreham hotel, some ladies broke out in a cold perspiration of indecision when they found themselves in front of His Imperial Majesty . . . The Nervous Nellies apparently couldn't decide at the last moment whether to curtsy or not . . . So they ended up tottering from one foot to the other and tittering wildly . . . Most of the foreign women did make bows of reverence, considered proper recognition due a reigning monarch . . . They would no more refuse to curtsy to a ruler than they would refuse to stand while the band plays the "Star-Spangled Banner."

If Hollywood producers had staged their idea of a diplomatic reception, it would have looked like this one did . . . Dripping with ermines . . . Medals . . . Beribboned shirtfronts . . . Gold braid and brocade . . . White kid gloves (even the men carried them) . . . Tiaras and tails . . . Saris and sables . . . To say nothing of His Imperial Majesty in a dark blue uniform that glittered with gold braid.

The women were portraits come to life . . . Mrs. Dean Acheson in a citrus-yellow draped satin gown . . . Mme. Chautemps, wife of the former Premier of France, in black chantilly lace, white feathers stuck in her hair a la Court of St. James's . . . Mrs. Joseph E. Davies in a pale silver and blue taffeta ball gown with which she wore a little trinket accessory—just a diamond and sapphire necklace.

Mrs. Wallace Murray, whose husband was at one time our envoy to Iran, in a black moire gown with accents scarlet . . . Egyptian Ambassadress Abdul Rahim, slim as a reed along the Nile in her high-necked white satin dress, appliqued from neck to hem with white satin flowers . . . The beautiful daughter of the Iranian ambassador, Miss Iran Ala (as a patriotic gesture her father named her the same as his country), chose a flowered dress, frothed with a stole and glittered with a delicate diamond and emerald pin . . . The Princess of Siam turned up in her native costume, lavender brocade made like a Chinese robe, tight, so tight in fact, the Princess nearly did a back flip when she tried to make a curtsy.

Snobbish remark of the evening from a New York lady. After her eyes had iced around the room, she murmured "My dear, I don't know a soul here. Except his Imperial Majesty."

NYLON STOCKINGS WITH CHARACTER ALL THEIR OWN ARE ANSWERS FOR BOTHERSOME YULE PRESENT LISTS

By PAT FULLERTON
News Staff Writer

Don't look now, but it's much too near Christmas to be comfortable.

Have you taken a good look at your gift list? How many persons are on it that simply stump you when you try to think of a suitable present.

For the worrisome females, nylon stockings are the answer. Lives there a woman who can have too many pairs? And, don't protest that they're such an ordinary gift, either. This year, they aren't.

Is the object of your giving fond of fragile, strapped shoes? She'd love a pair of stockings with no seams and no foot reinforcement to mar the line of the slippers.

Some women seem to be a little harder on stockings than average. The new no-run 51guage hose are an answer to a prayer.

Is the woman you're thinking of a little vain about her nice ankles? Well, pamper her with stockings with side clocks designed to point up nice legs.

It seems silly to some, but there is a seamless stocking with a clock up the back where the seam should be. They're particularly nice for women who like the leg-slimming line of the seam, but find keeping them straight a terrific bother.

Another ankle-focusing stocking outlines the heels with lace.

Believe it or not, there's even a stocking for shoes with open heels and closed toes. The foot reinforcement stops just at the point the heel peeks out.

Take a look, also at the several ornately decorated feet found in some nylons. Careful shopping for the person under consideration will take the assembly-line curse from a present of stockings.

Let your sleeves turn your arms into attractions instead of cumbersome appendages!

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

FASHION THIS YEAR plays right into the arms of all those whose arms feel "undressed" even in long sleeves. That unhappy self-consciousness over arms that are too heavy, too thin, too long or too short can be dispelled immediately just by selecting the proper sleeve from the wide variety of designs that are fashion right and available this season.

Just remember, the next time you buy a dress, that your arms are part of your figure, not just something tacked on as an after-thought. Be as particular about the cut and fit of your sleeve as you are about the hug of your waist or the hang of your skirt.

Flattering Sleeve Design

The girls with long, thin arms will do well to embrace the new style of the wide, set-in, three-quarter sleeve with the broad turned back cuff, or the even newer, deep-cut dolman in the same three-quarter length. The reasons: The width of these sleeves will disguise the frailty of your arm; the slightly shorter length will foreshorten it.

For these same reasons, the woman with the heavy arms must avoid the wide, loose sleeve if she wants her arms and figure to appear generally slimmer. When this is your riddle, solve it by selecting a three-quarter, set-in sleeve that is fitted with ease. Beware the paper on the wall fit, however, because it will only accentuate and outline the girth of your arm. When you want to wear a short sleeve you can do so to great advantage by making certain it covers the widest part of your upper arm. Never let a short sleeve foreshorten, and therefore widen your arm by cutting it in two smack at the elbow. Make sure it ends just below or above the elbow.

DO Wear Bracelets!

There's one more thing you must do to aid and abet the problem arm . . . wear bracelets. I'm not the only one who thinks so either. The dress designers feel so strongly about this point that they are even calling their three-quarter sleeve the "bracelet". Wear bracelets on both arms when your sleeve exposes any part of your arm. To do an artful job, choose them in the right proportion and design for your arm.

Don't let false reasoning cloud your judgment here! You might easily think if you're a heavy woman that massive jewelry will suit you best. It could be, if you're also extremely tall. But in this instance, when you specifically want your bracelet to flatter your arm, choose medium-sized, medium-to-light weight angular designs. The same sizes and weights but with round designs (and the more the merrier) are for the long, slim arm.

And there's one thing that is right for every woman's arms: Learn to move them with graceful coordination.

Here's the DRESSING for your TURKEY

Here's the perfect dressing recipe to make the thanksgiving meal a huge success. It's a McCall's Magazine Fail-Proof recipe recommended by the food editors of McCall's. Investigate, it tastes as good as it reads.

Corn Bread Stuffing for Thanksgiving Turkey

10 cups crumbled corn bread
2 cups finely chopped celery
1½ cups finely chopped onion
2 eggs
2 cups giblet stock
¼ teaspoon black pepper
1 tablespoon poultry seasoning
1 cup chopped pecans
1½ teaspoons salt

The day before you stuff the turkey, make up a double batch of corn bread using your own recipe or a mix. When you're ready to prepare the dressing, combine corn bread crumbs with celery and onion. Then add eggs and mix thoroughly. Season stock with poultry seasoning, salt and pepper. Mix into dressing, well. Finally, mix in pecans. This makes enough dressing for a 15 lb. turkey. But remember: always stuff a bird with a light hand since stuffing swells in baking.

Wilkinson Names County Housing Commission

Board Unanimously Approves Authority

A Housing Authority for Allegany County was created yesterday by the unanimous action of the Board of Commissioners of Allegany County after a resolution was presented by Commissioner William H. Lemmert.

Commissioner James Holmes, Lonaconing, made the motion to adopt the resolution and the motion was seconded by Board President Charles N. Wilkinson, Jr., who then named the following members to the Housing Committee:

Frank Powers, Frostburg, chief of the Maryland Bureau of Mines, to serve one year.

Samuel Berry, Barton, operator of the Barton Job Printing Shop, to serve two years.

Harry Poland, Mt. Savage, operator of Poland's Service Station, to serve three years.

P. Allan Weatherholt, 419 Fairmont Lane, Cumberland, member of the editorial staff of the Cumberland News, to serve four years.

Robert Jones, Route 40, west, president of Local No. 37, Operating Engineers Union, to serve five years.

Wilkinson designated Weatherholt temporary chairman to call a meeting and have the Commission formally organized with the election of a permanent chairman and secretary.

The resolution, similar to one already adopted by the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, will put the county in line for participation in the public housing program of the Federal government.

The resolution sets forth that "there is a shortage of safe and sanitary dwelling accomodations available at rents which persons in low income brackets can afford, and such persons are forced to occupy overcrowded and congested dwelling accomodations; and the aforesaid conditions are conducive to the increase and spread of disease and delinquency and constitute a menace to the health, safety, morals and welfare of the residents of Allegany County and impair economic values in general."

It also provides that under the proposed program, slum areas may be cleared and blighted areas could be replanned and rebuilt. In addition, new housing would be made available at reasonable rental for low income groups.

The County Board had considered the question for about 30 days before formal and final action was taken to establish the Housing Commission. Town officials of incorporated communities outside Cumberland were contacted and the majority gave their approval to the proposal. The County Housing Commission will be empowered to act in all areas of the county outside the City of Cumberland, according to Gorman Getty, attorney to the Board.

Bazzle and A. A. Hood also declined to hear the case because they had discussed it freely and expressed an opinion.

Kesner's attorneys have indicated they will file assault charges against Officer Howdyshell who obtained a warrant Saturday for the defendant's arrest.

Approximately 94 per cent of Austria's population is Roman Catholics. The others are Lutherans, Calvinists and Jews.

Kesner Acquitted Of Driving Charge

John Kesner, 39, near Short Gap, W. Va., was acquitted yesterday of a reckless driving charge by a six-man jury empaneled by Justice of the Peace C. A. Jewell.

Kesner was arrested October 29 on Armstrong Street extended, Keyser, by Patrolmen Paul Howdyshell and Raymond Dawson. Later Kesner accused Howdyshell of beating him during the arrest and the officer was given a 10-day suspension.

Authorities said Howdyshell had admitted striking the defendant while apprehending him.

The case originally was scheduled to be heard by Police Judge A. A. Jordon, Keyser, who disqualified himself. Later Justices Madalyn

One Change Made In Bus Schedule

One change has been made in the new schedule of the Cumberland Transit Lines buses, according to Alfred J. Hutton, manager.

The run which originally went to Bedford Road at 2:30 p. m. and to Patterson Avenue at 3 p. m. has been removed. Business prompted the move when it was found the bus was needed more on the Cresaptown run, he said.

Hutton said it is too early to tell about the permanancy of the changes. Mentioning the Washington Street service, which has been instigated for the first time, the Transit Lines manager said the determining factor will be the weather.

Child Unhurt When Struck By Car

Judy Centofonti, 8, of 320 Emily Street, was taken to Allegany Hospital yesterday for examination after she was struck on Bedford Street by a car driven by Francis Elmer Straw, 43, this city.

No injuries were found and police filed no charges.

School Children Get Thanksgiving Treat

Allegany County's school children either had baked ham for lunch yesterday or will have it today, according to a Board of Education spokesman.

The ham, a special Thanksgiving treat, was to be served at whichever time would fit into the school cafeteria schedule. Prices are the same as for daily meals served under the hot lunch program.

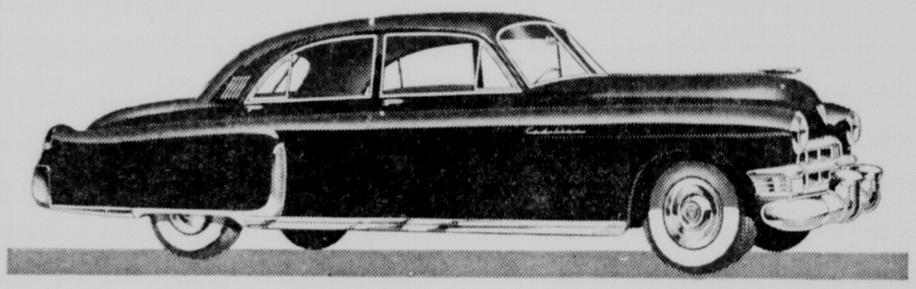
Greatest Compliment a Car Ever Had!



NUMBERED AMONG THE HAPPIEST Cadillac owners are many, many dealers who sell and service other well-known makes of cars.

They feel perfectly free to avail themselves of Cadillacs because they know that all the world holds Cadillac in a class apart. Hence, it is no reflection on the cars they sell when they seek, for themselves and their families, the exclusive advantages which "the Standard of the World" provides.

This, of course, is the greatest compliment a motor car ever had—and the respect upon which it is founded has been fifty years in the building. Throughout all this time, there has been the strictest adherence to the highest ideals of engineering and production. Not once has the inflexible rule of quality been eased for a single day.

It is a wonderful thing to own such a car. It is a wonderful thing to drive it—to relax in it—and to have it as a cherished possession. All in all, it enhances the enjoyment of the whole day's activities.

We think you would sense all this—and more—after an hour or so at the wheel. Why not come in some day, quite soon—for a ride that's a revelation? We should be happy to have you any time.

Over 100 Auxiliary Officers Aid Cumberland Police Force

The 128 members of Cumberland's Auxiliary Police Department have given 2,083 hours of assistance to the regular police force in the last year and a half.

The group, founded during World War II to help in blackouts, has become a familiar sight to local residents during public functions.

Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn is director of the force and the actual training and administration of the civilian policemen is supervised by Tech. Sgt. John H. Newhouse.

Most of the duties of the auxiliary patrolmen are connected with handling crowds and traffic at parades, football games and other occasions when a large number of people gather.

These citizen officers have authority to arrest and prefer charges against a lawbreaker.

The auxiliary policemen, working gratis, save the city money by replacing regular officers at local functions such as parades. However, a small fee is charged at affairs which have no municipal connection.

The money goes for equipment such as shoes, shirts, ties, raincoats, which is not furnished by the city. The men use old uniforms of the city police department and 28 of the auxiliary policemen have been furnished proper garb.

Sgt. Newhouse said the Celanese Corporation recently donated 12 heavy overcoats and eight uniform coats to the force. This Spring, the organization held a dance to raise funds and plans to conduct another next year.

Chief of the auxiliary department is Joseph Harrison, while assistant chief is Harry Beckman.

Officers are Harold Armbruster, president; Glenn Davis, secretary, and Chief Flynn, treasurer. Meetings are held the third Thursday of each month in the Canada Hose House, North Mechanic Street.

Driver Forfeits Bond

Accused of reckless driving when his truck struck a car at the intersection of Harrison and George Streets Monday, William Emerson Bussey, 20, New Castle, Pa., forfeited $10 bond yesterday in Police Court.

The driver of the other vehicle, Mrs. Anna Hanawalt, 347 Maryland Avenue, was treated at Allegany Hospital for abrasions.

At the present time, the largest item in New England's fishing industry is the haddock.

Kiyoodle Commence

THE late Joe Penner—may his sinoidal simper rest in peace—made a career for himself in the theatre out of the question, "Anybody wanna buy a duck?" Today, with your indulgence, I'd like to make a column out of an equally pertinent question:

Anybody wanna buy a lhasa apso? A tahl-tan? A drentsche partrijshond or, maybe, a drahthaar . . .?

These tongue-twisters came into my life a few days ago, along about sunset, when I was sauntering up Sixth Avenue and spotted a dachshund romping and roughhousing in the window of a pet shop.

Billy Rose

"That's for me," I said to myself. "He's built so Eleanor and I can pet him at the same time."

I walked in and asked the proprietress how much she wanted for the mutt.

"He'll cost you $250—and he's no must," said the bowsermonger.

"Isn't that a little steep?"

"It's very reasonable for a good dachshund. If you wanted a full-blooded Australian kelpie, you'd have to pay $500 and up."

"I don't get this full-blooded business," I said. "What have these pups got in their veins—ketchup or Pol Rogers '26?"

"You don't understand," said the proprietress. "They're champions and have the papers to prove it."

—o—

Well, there was no one else in the shop, and so I asked the lady if she'd mind giving me a run-down on how champions are selected. What she told me is old stuff to Fido fanciers, but on the off-chance that you're no more kipoodle-conscious than I was, here 'tis . . .

For one thing, including the tongue-twisters already mentioned, there are 111 recognized breeds in the dog world. And for another, a purp isn't officially a purp unless it's registered with the American Kennel Club—the Burke's Peerage of poochdom.

During 1948, there were 239,495 new arrivals listed with the A. K. C., plus 65,905 official changes of ownership—and this is Big Business and no kidding, for quite a few of the registered Rovers sold for a thousand dollars or better.

Last year, the local clubs around the country sponsored 2,444 dog shows, and you could easily elect a Congressman with the number of judges, handlers, trail-trimmers and ear-snippers involved in these yapfests.

To rate a "Ch." before its name, a dog must first win a blue ribbon in its own class. This entitles it to compete for "best of winners." If it wins that, it's given a certain number of points toward its championship, depending on the number of dogs it has beaten. Then, to be declared a champion, it has to win 15 points, getting them in at least three different shows under at least three different judges.

• — • — •

I asked the owner of the poochatorium to tell me something about the gentlemen who do the judging.

"There are more than 5,000 of them licensed by the A. K. C.," she said. "The Club has set certain standards to guide them, but the judges don't have to pay any attention to them unless they want to, and their say-so is final. Consequently, in selecting a 'best of winners', a judge may pick a certain setter over a certain cocker one day, and a week later reverse himself at another show.

"The tendency, however, is to go along with the opinion of the previous judge, and this sometimes results in strange selections. For instance, a couple of years ago a highly-touted European expert attended a show and was amused by the higgledy-piggledy appearance of a fox terrier whose owner had somehow managed to get him past the entry committee. As a gag, he asked the handler if the dog was for sale.

"One of the judges overheard him and, not knowing that the European was joking, awarded a blue ribbon to the stumblebum pooch. And at subsequent shows, other judges went along with this decision until the animal had piled up enough points to win a championship. Today, old Higgledy-Piggledy is a big name in the dog business and worth more than a thousand dollars."

"It's a lot like show business," I said to the lady. "I know several Broadway and Hollywood champs who have gotten into the thousand-dollar class by a very similar process."

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—(INS)—

SIDEGLANCES:

Poles in this country who know the score of what is happening back home, behind the curtain that descended on their land, insist that Russian Marshal Rokossovsky's arrivial in Warsaw has nothing to do with the announced reasons.

They say he is there to reorganize the defenses of one of the world's most strategic areas, the approaches to the richest portions of the Soviet.

Coincidentally, the Communist Polish government cancelled two contracts with Sweden which, had they been permitted to go forward, would have enabled Swedish engineers and other professional and amateur observers, to enter Poland at this time.

The second reason for the Marshal's arrival in Poland is political, Polish sources say. He will attend to the final weeding out of "deviationists," such as former Polish Commy big-wig Wladyslav Gomulka, and become the instrument by which Poland formally becomes a state within the U. S. S. R.

• — • — •

One Polish official who is sweating it out these days is Jakob Berman, a top figure in Poland's Politburo and other secret echelons since the present government there was forced on the people in 1945.

Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, last democratic premier of Poland, recently returned from Western Germany, told me yesterday:

"Berman had a relative in prison in Russia for some time, but finally managed to have him paroled and shipped into Poland.

"But then he secured a passport for the man—whose name is Eigler—and a visa that enabled him to escape the country and enter Sweden. All of which was well and good, but freedom went to Eigler's head. He wrote a book on his experiences in Russian prisons, and the Russian system in general.

"Berman has been asked to explain. It is not easy to do such things under Communism."

• — • — •

As his friends will attest, there were two Thomas E. Deweys: The slightly dogmatic and somewhat unbending man of the political campaigns, and the easy-natured, witty, enormously intelligent and human figure of smaller parties.

We saw him in action in the latter role last week, when he served as an informal master of ceremonies at a heart fund rally. When the heart specialists got out of hand and lapsed into bewildering medical terms, he'd say, "Now just a minute, Doctor. Bring it down to my level, will you?"

He had moved heaven, earth and an upstate snow-storm to get to the New York meeting on time. But he wanted to be there no only because of his deep inerest in heart research but his belief that man can apply himself in such a way that the earth can be rid of all disease.

"In New York state," he said, with mounting excitement, "we're going to examine every man, woman and child, in search of actual or incipient tuberculosis, and give free care to all who need it.

"In 20 years we'll be the first state in the first nation ever to be completely free of what was once the deadliest killer of them all."

Lonaconing Club License Is Suspended

The license of a Lonaconing club was suspended for 15 days and a Cumberland organization was given a stern warning yesterday at a meeting of the Allegany County Liquor Control Board.

A license suspension from November 25 to December 9 inclusive was ordered against James P. Love Post, American Legion, as the result of a conviction on a charge of having five slot machines on the premises November 3.

William A. Huster and Leslie J. Clark were attorneys for the Legion Post and they asked the board to be lenient and to make the suspension at such a period so as not to interfere with the current Thanksgiving and Christmas social season.

Clark pointed out that the machines had been in operation only a few days and the proceeds were destined to be used for charitable purposes. Members of the board answered that it is still illegal to maintain gaming devices in establishments with liquor licenses.

Trustees Fined

Following a charge by an unidentified witness that he had lost $30 at the Legion machines, Magistrate James McPartland, Lonaconing, ordered the money refunded and fined two trustees of the post $25.

The board also issued a warning to trustees of Fulton Myers Post, American Legion, of Cumberland, concerning "suspicious" circumstances surrounding an inspection of the clubrooms on North Mechanic Street, October 9.

The trustees were called before the board yesterday following receipt of a letter from Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn explaining the inspection by police officers.

Barroom Locked

Inspecting officers James W. Brown and James H. Snyder told the board that when they entered the club, they found the social room open but the barroom locked. One man was found asleep at a table with a partially filled bottle of beer in front of him. He was intoxicated, police said.

The trustees said they did not authorize the barroom to be open and the bottle of beer was left from the regular Saturday night business. They also said the individual in question "always looks like he's drunk." But that's just his usual demeanor, they added.

Due to the fact that there was no legal action in the matter and no conviction the board did not prefer charges. However, the board said that the incident was "suspicious" and that they had had other complaints as to the manner in which the club was operated.

Unless this ceases, board members added, further action will be taken.

All these fares will have the 15 percent federal taxes added.

Man Jailed On Drunk Charges

A 10-day jail sentence was handed out to Knova Twigg, 123 Roberts Street, yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court when he was unable to pay a fine of $10 on drunk and disorderly charges.

He was arrested Monday night after Mrs. Blanche Cook, 42 East Roberts Street, told police that "a man is trying to force his way into my home."

In Trial Magistrates Court, William A. Schneider, 323 Columbia Street, posted a $200 peace bond on complaint of Geraldine Widdows, this city.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Peanuts and popcorn are a big business.

Yes, sir, the financial reports just came in and five hundred million dollars worth of peanuts and popcorn are sold annually in theatres throughout the country.

I could tell that the refreshment business was really booming. Last week I went to the movies and they had two pictures and a sneak preview of a bar of chocolate.

I noticed that the theatre was stuffy, but when I got out in the lobby I realized why. The manager had spent all his money to have the popcorn machine air conditioned.

But if movies are shown just to make customers buy refreshments, actors will no longer be judged on their acting ability. Now it's just me and the super markets fighting it out for an academy award.

Of course, when my pictures are showing at the theatres, the managers don't have time to sell popcorn. The fans always bring their own bags to rattle.

Girl Changes Story To Police

Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn announced yesterday that a statement made by a 16-year-old Ridgeley girl charging two men with raping her November 12, was "false."

At first the girl claimed she was forced into a car in Cumberland, Chief Flynn said, but after local police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation began to probe the alleged rape she related a different set of "facts."

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

An anonymous cynic in the Columbia Jester sighs, "She laughs at his jokes, each story and pun; she crows with delight when he's clowning in fun. She never says 'don't,' gets piqued or enraged. In fact, it's apparent—they're only engaged!"

Red Skelton has discovered the longest word in the English language. Its the one that follows the announcement, "And now a word from our sponsor" . . . Robert Kintner adds that announcers themselves always have small hands: wee paws for station identification. . . . A comedian's agent once warned him, "The next time you ad lib, Milt, don't rattle the paper so much.". . . During the warm-up period of an "Information, Please" program, Guest-Star George Kaufman unaccountably failed to answer a single question. Just before the show went on the air, Clifton Fadiman asked kiddingly, "May I ask what you have been doing for the past fifteen minutes, Mr. K.?" "You may," answered Mr. K. "I've been listening to 'Information, Please.'"

Judge E. See Upholds Deed To Keyser Property

Defendants Win In Chancery Case

KEYSER, W. Va. — The plaintiff and one of the defendants of a chancery case in Mineral Circuit Court have been ordered to split the court costs by Judge Ernest A. See as he upheld the validity of a Main Street property deed.

The decision in the case of Abner M. Tyler, plaintiff, vs. Horace M. Menefee and Mary E. Menefee and Vernon E. Rankin, trustee, defendants, reversed the report of Harry Taylor, commissioner in chancery, that the deed was invalid.

Stating that there was no fraud and that Mary E. Menefee had given good and valuable consideration to Horace Menefee for the property in question, Judge See ordered Menefee and Tyler to pay $86.22 each in court costs.

Mary Menefee and Rankin also were ordered to recover their costs in the case from Tyler.

The case arose as a result of a $10,000 alienation of affections suit filed by Tyler against Menefee in which Tyler was awarded $5,000 October 22, 1947.

Rankin explained that in order to collect his damages, Tyler wished to attach the Main Street property. However, Howard and Mary Menefee had a previous agreement whereby she would receive the deed to the proprty in return for relinquishment of dower rights in other property owned by Menefee and $2,500.

Tyler filed suit asking the deed be set aside. Commissioner Taylor reported the deed invalid, but his report was set aside by Judge See in the recent decision.

Judge See also ordered Mary E. Menefee to pay the $2,500 to Howard Menefee.

Rankin said both parties have indicated there will be no appeal.

Decision Are

made under Sec. 3 or Sec. 14 A-B, whichever was applicable.

Percentage Too Small

The second dispute arose over the question as to whether the company was justified in requiring truckers to operate elevator No. 13 in Department 71-D and to combine the job with that of truckers in Dept. 95 ... resulting in the displacement of the elevator operator.

The question arose out of previous studies of the two jobs, coupled with a reduction in production schedules and a change in equipment.

In his findings on the dispute Blair said;

No provisions in the contract support the union in its claim that the company refused to bargain on the issue since the grievance procedure was adhered to.

The union claim that the company cannot combine the job of elevator operator with that of truck operator, each in a different department, he said, must rest on Article 7, Sec. 9C.

In this case, he said, time studies have shown that about seven per cent of the trucker's time is used in operating the elevator—too small a percentage to justify transferring the elevator operator from his present Department 91D job to Department 95.

Road Complaints

weather gets worse, she said the roads becomes more and more impassable.

The board agreed that the county engineer would be instructed to investigate the condition at once.

Commissioner Wilkinson received a telephone call from Flintstone informing him that a school bus had broken three springs while attempting to traverse a section of the Flintstone Creek Road. The bus driver, who was not identified, wanted the county to pay for the springs. Commissioner Lemmert maid a motion that the board have the county engineer investigate and Commissioner Holmes seconded the motion with the provision that a bill for the springs be submitted before any action is taken.

Sledding Areas

will be placed at intersections to warn motorists.

Hoey said he plans to ask playground associations in sledding areas to aid auxiliary police in protecting the children.

In the event parents or other groups request that additional areas be roped off, the Police and Recreation Departments will cooperate to expand the program, Hoey said.

Safety rules prepared by Chief Flynn follow:

2. Do not run and "slam" the sled when starting down a hill.
2. Do not ride "double" on top of each other.
3. Keep clear of other sleds while coasting.
4. Keep off the track when returning up the hill.
5. Be careful of small children on the track.

Soldier Jailed

O'Neal said he picked up the trio at the B&O YMCA at 1:40 a. m. on the day of the beating. The youths, he said, told him to drive them to Leary's Tavern on the lonely Bean's Cove Road.

Left In Road

When the car approached McLuckie's Service Station, he declared, the three young men beat him and left him in the road while they fled in his cab.

Police found O'Neal's denture plate, his watch and the frames of his glasses at the scene. O'Neal's hat was found about two miles from the scene.

Two of the men later appeared at Leary's Tavern, but left before police arrived. A third had fled into the brush when the truck bearing the three Cresaptown men arrived on the scene.

O'Neal had been involved in a similar case only a few months earlier, when passengers attacked him in the Valley Road section.

Bids Opened On Road Projects

The Keeley Construction Company of Clarksburg, W. Va., was low bidder for resurfacing of a section of Route 219 in Garrett County, the State Roads Commission announced yesterday.

The West Virginia company's bid was $98,445. Second lowest was the $117,330.50 bid of the Interstate Amiesite Company of Wilmington, Del. The Cumberland Contracting Company was third with a bid of $132,040.75.

A contract for the work is expected to be awarded soon, but the Commission did not announce the date of award, or the date work is expected to start.

Local State Roads Commission engineers said the project includes 3.972 miles of road between Gortner and Red House.

The commission also received 15 bids on a 101-foot steel plate girder span to be built as a part of the Washington National Pike over Route 215.

Low bidder was the Frank Pecora Construction Company of Baltimore with an offer of $341,097. The Whiting-Turner Contracting Company of Baltimore ran a close second with a bid of $341,932.70, only $835 over the Pecora bid.

The Bero Engineering and Construction Company of Hampton, Va., bid lowest on a contract to resurface Route 444 between Locust Grove and Galena in Kent County. The low bid was $436,192.

Twain's Papers Will Be Housed At California U.

BERKELEY, Calif., Nov. 22 (AP)—The Mark Twain papers, one of the most valuable collections left by any major writer in America, will be permanently housed at the University of California.

President Robert Gordon Sproul announced today the papers will be bequeathed to the university by Clara Clemens Samossoud, only living daughter of the writer-humorist whose real name was Samuel Langhorne Clemens. He died in 1910.

The California centennial-year gift will root the collection in the west, where Clemens spent his early years as a gold miner, journalist and lecturer. He gained his first national fame in San Francisco with his story of "The Celebrated Jumping Frog." Travel pieces for the San Francisco Alta California later formed the manuscript of his first book, "The Innocents Abroad."

The papers include 45 of the author's notebooks and diaries; over 400 literary manuscripts — many still unpublished; masses of business records; family photographs and personal albums; and an autobiography, published only in part.

There are also thousands of letters, preserving correspondence between Mark Twain and such celebrities as William Dean Howells, Rudyard Kipling, George Bernard Shaw, Robert Louis Stevenson and others.

Clemens left the papers in trust, giving Mrs. Samoussoud the right to dispose of them. The present trustees are Thomas G. Chamberlain, New York attorney, and the Central Hanover Bank and Trust Company, New York. Mrs. Samoussoud has lived in California a number of years.

Dixon Wecter, editor of the Mark Twain estate, brought the papers with him to the university following his recent appointment to the Byrnes professorship of American history. Wecter's latest book based on the collection—"The Love Letters of Mark Twain"—has just been published by Harper and Brothers.

U. S. Geologists Will Help British Comb Darkest Africa For Minerals

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22. (INS)—Marshall Plan officials disclosed today that 30 American geologists soon will be "loaned" to the British to help them look for strategic minerals in darkest Africa and other remote places.

The geologists, together with 28 surveyors, will be delivered to British officials for assignments lasting until the Marshall Plan program runs out in the middle of 1952.

It is an Economic Cooperation Administration project intended to help the British develop out-of-the-way resources and thus find more for increasing their dollar supply, the shortage of which caused the devaluation of the pound.

The surveyors will be taken to England for indoctrination, then sent as a team to Africa to work out a system of landmarks from aerial photographs already made by the British in Kenya, Fanganyika and Uganda. They may also work on the West Coast.

It is going to be rugged and perhaps sometimes exciting for the venturesome 28. They will be in wild, "big game" country and will have to get out in all kinds of jungle and bush, and in fair and foul weather, and identify landmarks.

Most of the geologists will go to Africa, but a couple will be sent to North Borneo and Sarawak and one to British Guiana.

They will be given solo assignments by local British geological surveys to prepare "geological maps" of particular areas, showing minerals and rock formations.

Francis D. Kehew, regional ECA specialist handling the project, says Africa is practically untapped as far as minerals are concerned. Geologists are certain, he declared, that every known mineral in the world is to be found in Africa except one—oil.

Oil companies have spent millions searching Africa for oil, thus far with only meager success.

The geologists will not be equipped with Geiger counters, and thus are expected to find no uranium. But they will report whatever they find. Their discoveries will be filed away as "classified" secret information.

W. D. Johnston, Jr., of the Geological Survey, is recruiting the men. Johnston intends to visit the men on their lonely assignments once in a while to keep up their morale.

The British have made it clear that they are not keen on getting youngsters out of school for the geological work. They want more mature men. The British have run short of geologists and surveyors, since training of such men had to be suspended during the war.

Hunter's Deer Story Is Bear

ST. CLOUD, Minn., Nov. 22 (AP)—Andrew Kunkel, 21, Pearl Lake, near St. Cloud, comes up with a deer story that's a bear.

Kunkel, hunting near Aitkin, said he was standing on a huge hollow stump, about seven feet high, and watching for deer. He heard a noise in the brush. Out stepped a big bear.

Kunkel shot. The maneuver caused him to slip inside the stump. His gun fell outside. His feet wedged and unable to get out, he yelled for help but no one came.

After being in the stump about six hours he again heard noises. He looked up. Backing into the stump was a bear. Kunkel said he seized his hunting knife and jabbed at the bear's handiest area, at the same time grasping a paw. The stabbed bruin shot away from the stump freeing Kunkel.

The youth said the bear charged off into the brush. Kunkel picked up his rifle and went back to camp.

Ex-Hollywood Tunesmith Writes East German "National Anthem"

By TOM REEDY

BERLIN, Nov. 22 (AP)—The Communists have supplied Eastern Germany with a new "national anthem," penned by an ex-Hollywood songwriter.

With great fanfare the Soviet zone government announced the adoption of a new hymn to fill the void all Germans feel—the void created when the Allies banned "Deutschland Neber Alles" at the end of World War II.

Author of the music for the new hymn is Hanns Eisler, who pounded out many a tinpan alley tune in Hollywood before U. S. authorities got interested in his Communist background.

Eisler returned to his native Europe a jump ahead of trouble in a flurry of deportation proceedings. His brother, Gerhart, alleged former No. 1 Communist agent in the United States, took a powder, too, jumping appeal bonds of $20,000 after conviction in two criminal cases growing out of his activities to flee the country as a stowaway on a Polish liner.

The announcement of the national anthem was the first word on the activities of Hanns Eisler. Brother Gerhart has been in the news as chief information for the Soveit zone government.

Hanns Eisler's anthem has the same slow, heavy sound of "Deutschland Neber Alles," but it does not make the same lyrical mistakes. The Allies objected to the old German hymn because it is a frank declaration that Germany is better than all nations and should be above all of them.

Eisler's music is only so-so this time, although his ability has long been acklowledged by American tunesmiths the new song is almost waltzlike in character and Eisler notes on his original manuscript that it should be played in three-quarter time.

The lyrics, written by the well-known Communist lecturer, Johannes Becher, are as political as the times in the Russian zone. Like the Communists' daily preaching, the appeal is to youth, to peace and to unity that can "beat the peoples' enemy." And in this case it is the Kremlin which says who the peoples' enemy is.

"Arisef rom ruins," the anthem opens.
"And turn to the future.
"Let us serve the good, the unanimous Germany . . .
"If we unite brotherly
"We beat the peoples' enemy
"Let the light of peace glare
"That never again a mother
"Weeps for her son."

To the younger generation now banded into the "Free Communist Youth" along the lines of the old Hitler Jugend, the anthem appeals:

"Let us plow, let us build
"Learn and work as never before
"A new generation arises
"German youth, the best strains of our people
"Are united within you
"You will soon become Germany's life."

zone government assigned Eisler and zone government assigned Sisler and Becher to write the anthem. As usual, the people had nothing to say about its adoption.

Boxer Lectured For Slapping Girl

BETHESDA, Md., Nov. 22 (AP)—Gene G. Abernethy, 18, a former junior college boxing champ and football star, got a lecture and suspended sentence for slapping Miss Connie Butts, runnerup in a recent beauty show here.

Judge James R. Miller in Bethesda Police Court suspended sentence generally on condition that Abernethy's father, William, prevent the boy from using the family automobile until February 1.

"It is a most insulting act for a boy over six feet tall to strike a young girl in the face with his open hand," Judge Miller told the youth.

Roger C. Butts, father of the 18-year-old brunette girl, swore out a warrant charging Abernethy with assault and battery after his daughter was slapped in an argument at a Halloween dance.

Abernethy was an end on last year's Montgomery County Junior College football team and champion intra-mural boxer in his weight class. He is six feet two inches tall and weighs 185 pounds. Miss Butts is five feet six inches tall and weighs 120.

Youth Gives Up His Life Of Crime

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 22 (AP) — "I was afraid of being afraid," a youth said as he gave up crime and confessed to some 150 burglaries in West Coast cities since last June.

Police said Floyd Christy, 21, walked into Central Police Station Sunday night and announced he was through with crime.

"I got awfully tired of that life," he explained, "tired of walking down the street and always looking over my shoulder . . . tired of fighting every shadow."

Police said his account of local burglaries tallied with reports in their files. Christy said he averaged about $400 a week by this career.

"I thought that was something," he said. "I spent the money in night clubs and on girls . . .nice girls, nice-looking girls. I gave them the jewelry I stole."

Christy said he spent 29 months with the Air Force military police in Japan and Korea.

"At a training depot in the Tokyo district I met Toshiko Takahashi," he said. "She talked a little English and I walked her home. We started going together and I taught her to dance."

Christy said the Army forbade their marriage but "we found a Christian minister at Yogiyuehara and he married us. We have a little girl named Linda.

"I hope to go back to Japan as a civilian when I finish pounding rocks for this. I want to go back to her."

In the last Japanese general election, in January, 68 per cent of the Japanese women eligible to vote cast ballots.

Supreme Court Upholds Mineral Court Decision

Rulings Termed "Erroneous"

CHARLESTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 22 (AP)—The Supreme Court found plenty to quibble about today in a Mineral County domestic relations decision, but finally decided it all came out right.

"The proceedings in the Circuit Court upon the cross bill of the defendant were irregular and erroneous," the opinion by President Judge Frank C. Haymond said.

"Notwithstanding the erroneous rulings of the Circuit Court, heretofore mentioned and discussed," the opinnion continued, "it cannot be said that any of them is prejudicial to any right of the plaintiff, who alone has appealed, or that there is any error in the final decree which would justify its reversal by this court."

The plaintiff was Mary A. Wolford, who appealed from a decision which granted her $110 a month for separate maintenance and support of a child, but gave her husband, Ralph V. Wolford, exclusive possession of a house and furniture.

On the point of the husband's retention of the property, Judge Hammond wrote:

"The statute requires the Circuit Court to decree alimony and maintenance out of the earnings and the income of the husband. It does not authorize the court to take or transfer by its decree any of his other property. It does not mention any property owned by him other than earnings and income."

Carelessness is the greatest single cause of fire.

NEWS FROM THE TRI-STATE AREA

McKenzie Named To Westernport Police Force

Town Postpones Housing Work

WESTERNPORT — Darby McKenzie was appointed to the Westernport Police Force at a meeting of the Mayor and City Commissioners Monday night.

Mayor William C. Ravenscroft broke a tie vote on McKenzie's appointment by voting for McKenzie with Commissioner Lewis Engle and Clarence McBee.

Two weeks ago, McKenzie, who has been serving as a police officer since the resignation of Chief Leonard Murphy August 15, was granted two weeks in which to learn to drive the police car before the council considered his appointment.

At the Monday night meeting Chief Burza Hanlin told the commissioners McKenzie will take an examination for his operator's license November 29.

The council also ordered the City Clerk to inform the Board of Allegany County Commissioners that Westernport does not desire to participate in a federal housing project outlined at a recent meeting.

The town commissioners also decided to ask the County Commissioners for a conference on drainage facilities entering the town from Westernport Hill.

Volumes containing the names of owners of all motor vehicles registered in the state will be bought at the suggestion of Chief Hanlin, who pointed out that warrants could then be served on owners of cars if they fail to appear for hearings on traffic violations.

The council passed a motion by Commissioner John Matthews, providing for installation of a street light on Maryland Avenue near the Western Maryland Railway station.

ATTEND PARTY—Classmates who attended the birthday party of Dana Katherine Brown, a pupil of the Laboratory School of Frostburg State Teachers College, are shown above. Tau Phi Lambda Sorority Pledges Hold Hobo Party

KEYSER, W. Va. — Iota Pi Chapter, Tau Phi Lambda Sorority of the Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle, was entertained by recent pledges at a hobo party Monday.

The group met at the home of Juanita Rotruck. From there they proceeded to several homes to "beg" for a lunch, and, after gathering enough food, the hoboes retired to "Hobo Haven" where they were served coffee.

"Hobo Haven" was a room which had been decorated with newspapers, empty bottles, discarded clothing, a bed made on the floor, and other items which gave the appearance of a hobo hangout.

There was a contest in which each vied with her partner in decorating paper plates in original pattern. Adrian Clark was awarded a tin cup as prize for the most original plate; Mary Ellen Carpenter was given a corn cob pipe for wearing the "tackiest" outfit.

Following the party, a short business session was conducted. The president appointed a nominating committee, consisting of Adrian Clark, chairman; Juanita Rotruck and Gretchen Daugherty. A year book committee was named with Jean Clise as chairman, and Juanita Rotruck, Gretchen Daugherty and Adrian Clark as her assistants.

Wanda Watson will be hostess for the next meeting Monday, December 5.

Attending the party were: Eva Shue, a visitor; Loretta Keener, Mary Ellen Carpenter, Juanita Rotruck, Jean Clise, Gretchen Daugherty, Ida Davidson and Adrian Clark, members of the Sorority, and Mary Rotruck, Kathleen Harrison, and Alma Payne, pledges.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 22 (INS)—Mrs. Helen Rathvon, wife of Peter Rathvon, former big boss at RKO Studios, is joining the ranks of our other two lady producers—Harriet Parsons and Joan Harrison.

I talked with Helen at Mrs. Dolly Walker's dinner party and she told me that the first picture she will produce will be "The Sun Sets At Dawn," which goes into rehearsals early next month.

"Both Peter and I feel," Helen said, "that there is a definite need for new faces and young people, so our leading lady will be Sally Parr, a newcomer. So is our leading man new to pictures, but I won't tell you about him until later."

Helen says she has the help of Paul Sloane, veteran director, who wrote the story, which contains a message of faith.

Hear that Carey Wilson is working on the new series called "Honest John Stever," taking over the idea from "You're Only Young Twice." This is the story about the Lawrenceville School for Boys which stars Dean Stockwell.

Well, Carey is just the one to put over a serial. He sure had the know-how with the "Andy Hardy's" and the "Dr. Kildares" even though they have outrun their voltage.

Of course, young Dean stars in the new "Stevers" which reminds me I heard a cute story about him. He had to look starry-eyed at Claudia Barrett in "You're Only Young Twice." Embarrassed at the "smooch" scene, he didn't register the right degree of ardor, so his director held an ice cream soda over Claudia's head.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Ruth Roman was the first girl Ronald Reagan danced with since he broke his leg. They came to Charley Foy's early and stayed late.

Gloria De Haven and John Payne didn't speak when they accidentally ran into each other at the Doll House in Palm Springs. She was with Andre Previn, and John came in with A. C. Lyles.

Kathryn Forbes, author of "I Remember Mama," is a happy grandmother. At 38. Her son had a daughter a few days ago.

Buddy Fogelson is getting his affairs in shape so he can fly to England to spend Christmas with Greer Garson.

Wouldn't surprise me if Patricia Knight talked Cornel Wilde into changing his mind. She wept openly when she heard he is crzy about Barbara Dunne.

The Vic Olivers are expecting a baby. He is one of London's top comedians and was formerly married to Sarah Churchill, Winston's daughter.

Ginger Rogers and Greg Bautzer beat "Champ" Gussie Moran and Pat Di Cicco in the mixed doubles in the tennis tournament at the Racquet Club.

Georgette Windsor, escorted by Anatole Litvak, listening to Vic Damone's singing at Mocambo.

Roxanne Spreckles, ex-wife of John Spreckles, has been married for two weeks to Walter Hertensteiner, of Hermosa Beach.

The May-December marriage of Bobby Webb, MGM casting director, and Sally Seaver, didn't work out. They have been married only two months and now she'd filing for divorce.

Farley Granger is still buying Shelley Winters' dinner, but maybe he won't if Shelley doesn't wear makeup when they go out to the Encore and other places.

Margaret Truman will be Drucie Snyder's maid of honor when the Secretary of the Treasury's daughter is married the second week in December.

The youngest brother of Lawrence Tierney and Scott Brady, Ed Tierney, has been signed by Universal-International. I won't blame him is he changes his name as Scott did.

From New York comes word that Lina Romay is being seen constantly with Dick Cowell, heir to an oil fortune.

There's a lot of talk about that new perfume, Voodoo, which is being so widely publicized.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

I like to think—and this thought isn't original—that if we can stave off war for the next 50 years the forces that make war will have been overcome by the forces of peace.

—Dr. Arthur H. Compton, president of Washington University.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

NEED LOTS OF ENTRIES

NO MATTER how many entries you may have to the dummy or your own declarer's hand, it may turn out that all of them are required. That can apply especially when some one suit has to be ruffed a number of times before a card may be established which is needed for discarding a loser in the opposite holding. It will pay, in such cases, to count them up and find how to make maximum use of them.

West cashed his club A and then studied that dummy. Seeing the danger that a diamond might get established for discarding a loser by declarer, he decided to slap at the dummy's plentiful side entries, the club K, leading his J to it.

Now is when South did his best work, his planning. He saw the possibility of two losers in spades and two in diamonds, plus maybe another in trumps, and he had already lost one in clubs. So he decided he had better make every card do its best possible work, including an effort to establish one or more low diamonds for a spade discard. It's good he did.

'For the third trick he led the heart 4 to the A and offered the diamond 4. The 10 and K covered and the A won. East returned his spade 3 and the K forced the A. The diamond 5 was led, East winning with the 9 and returning the spade J to the Q. That made the third dummy entry used up. Now South ruffed the diamond 6 with the heart 7, hoping West did not have the heart Q. The heart 5 to the K then felled the Q, likewise using up the dummy's fourth entry. The diamond 7 was then ruffed with the heart 8 and the heart 9 was led to the dummy's fifth and last entry, the 10. With the diamond 8 now established, South was able to lead it and park the spade 8 on it. He had the heart J left for the finale, having lost only one trick in clubs and two in diamonds.

omic and political union, would certainly be a vast improvement, and a thoroughly worthy ultimate aim of American policy. But there is a perfectly obvious danger that "integration" will be accepted as a magical and marvellously inexpensive substitute for a real policy, capable of preventing the non-Communist world from caving in, like the Russian landowner's roof.

You could stand in the open at one end of the north-south runway at the Washington National Airport, with no more protection than the clothes you now have on, and have an atom bomb explode at the other end of the runway without serious injury to you.

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

France Seeks British, U. S. Aid In Gamble For Indochina Peace

By CARL HARTMAN

PARIS, Nov. 22 (AP)—France is starting a campaign for the active backing of Britain and the United States in her gamble for peace in Indochina, an Oriental colony bigger than Texas and more populous than Spain.

Time is pressing, for the Chinese Red armies are nearing Indochina's border. There, they could link with the anti-French fighters of Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh.

The French are playing their last face card in the turbulent colony. He is a 26-year-old ex-playboy and ex-emperor named Bao-Dai. The French plucked him off the Riviera last spring and set him at the head of a government in Saigon.

Prince Buu Lac, Bao-Dai's right-hand man, left Saigon last weekend to fly to the United States and seek official recognition of his "sovereign's" government.

The French gave Bao-Dai his job as part of their scheme to make Indochina "independent within the French union." The result may some day add up to a form of government half-way between a British dominion and an old-fashioned protectorate.

The French claimed last week that Britain had taken a step toward recognizing Bao-Dai. This was because a British official in Southeast Asia visited him and delivered the personal best wishes of Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin.

But, in the well-established patterns of the diplomatic minuet, this was still several complicated figures away from a formal exchange of ambassadors. Certainly it must wait until the French Parliament, at least, has ratified the controversial treaty with Bao-Dai.

The long-range aim of France may be semi-independence for the "empire of Viet-Nam," but the immediate goal is the end of the three-year war with Ho Chi Minh's "Viet-Nam republic." This conflict has cost heavily in lives. The annual money price, as put in the estimated budget for 1950, is 150 billion francs ($329,000,000).

The problem resembles the one Britain faced in India. In both cases a set of Oriental peoples, with its own traditions, has become more and more restless under the rule of Europeans who have done much to raise living standards.

Indochina's nationalism crystallized in the jungle fighters of Ho Chi Minh. But neither Britain nor the United States—despite its sympathy for aspiring colonial peoples—ever has given any sign of deciding whether Ho Chi Minh represents true nationalism or Soviet intrigue.

The new Viet-Nam—meaning "Greater Annam"—combines the three biggest of the five Indochinese states. It is a continuous coastal strip reaching from the Chinese border almost to Siam, a territory as big as Italy. It has a population of 22,000,000—more than New York and Illinois combined.

With a large majority of Annamite race and language, it includes the best ports and largest cities, and normally has enough rice to export.

Can Allegany Win 10?
One Loss Hahn Limit
Pence's Average .629
Mont Player Of Week

By C. V. BURNS

The two letter word "if" will figure prominently in tomorrow's city championship game between the football teams of Allegany High School and Fort Hill High School.

If Allegany defeats Fort Hill it will mark the first time in the history of scholastic football in Cumberland that a team will have gone through a schedule of 10 games without a defeat or tie game on its record.

The closest to that record is nine wins and one tie credited to Herman Ball's Allegany team of 1936, Bob Pence's AHS team of 1948 and Bill Hahn's Fort Hill aggregation of one year ago.

• — • — •

If Fort Hill can score more than eight points tomorrow (the Sentinels' average is 36.8 per game this season) the all-time record of 339 for 10 games set by the Campers last year will be shattered. The Hilltoppers have 331 to date.

• — • — •

Bill Hahn will be rounding out his fifth year as head coach of Fort Hill grid teams tomorrow. His teams have won 38, lost four and tied four.

Wonder if this will hold true again this year? Since Hahn has been at Fort Hill none of his teams have ever lost more than one game a season. The current edition has won eight and lost one.

The four losses in five years came at the hands of Allegany in 1942 (17-6); Hagerstown in 1946 (20-13) and Washington and Lee High (Arlington, Va.) in 1947 and 1949 (33-21 and 27-14).

• — • — •

Tomorrow Hahn will be sending a Fort Hill team against the Campers for the 6th time. His record against the Blue and White is three wins, one lost and one tie. He lost a 17-6 decision in the 1942 game but his 1946 team beat AHS twice, 19-0 and 21-0. In 1947 his team emerged victorious again, 25-0 and last year the game ended in a 6-6 deadlock.

• — • — •

Bob Pence is completing his fourth year at Allegany. At the close of last season he was hitting an even .500 (13-13-4) after he turned out a team that was undefeated in nine games and tied once. He's boosted his average to .629 so far this season with a 22-13-4 record.

• — • — •

A football fan asked the other day how many years Walter L. Bowers coached grid teams at Allegany High. We once asked the dean of local coaches the same question and his answer was:

"Too many."

Well, Walt was in football harness at Campobello 11 years and his average as a pigskin mentor was .648, which wasn't bad when you consider that Bowers did about everything at Allegany in those days but fire the furnace and carry out the ashes.

He got his divorce from football after turning out an undefeated team in 1945. His all-time record was 59 wins, 32 losses and 10 ties.

Yes, he still holds the basketball reins at AHS. This is his 24th year as cage mentor.

• — • — •

Tommy Mont was voted the "Redskin Player Of The Week" for his outstanding performance in the Chicago Bears-Washington game at the capital on Sunday.

Local television fans learned this Monday night from a sports program telecast from Station WMAL, Washington.

Jim Gibbons, who assists Harry Wismer is airing Redskins' home games, had Mont on his program and said that Tommy couldn't have picked a better day to prove his worth as an offensive player because there were approximately 500 Cumberlanders in the stands on "Cumberland Day" at Griffith Stadium to honor Coach Herman Ball and the former AHS and University of Maryland backfield ace.

Mont has been playing the role of blocking back for the 'Skins and when they turned him loose on offense he made two sensational catches of passes thrown by Sammy Baugh and converted them into touchdowns.

• — • — •

Bob Pence believes that a state athletic association should be formed by Maryland high schools so that a state championship football team could be crowned each year.

West Virginia and Pennsylvania name champions in several classes, why not Maryland?

• — • — •

Luke Barnett, the beloved ribber, heckler and noted after dinner speaker from Pittsburgh, who wowed 'em with his performance at the Dapper Dan Club banquet here Sunday, told one about the sign on the church which stated that the text of the pastor's sermon was:

"Do you know what hell is?"

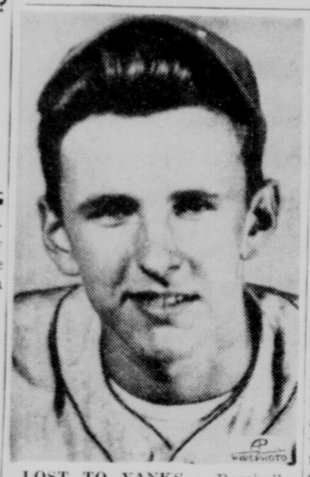
And beneath it appeared the invitation:

"Come And Hear Our New Organ."

• — • — •

The Washington and Jefferson College quint which played the Dukes here last night will open its regular 22-game schedule on Saturday with Buffalo University.

Other teams on the Prexies card include Baldwin-Wallace, Arizona State, Youngstown, Bucknell, West Virginia, Penn State, Ohio Wesleyan and Geneva.



LOST TO YANKS — Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler announced yesterday that the New York Yankees have been fined $500 and deprived forever of the services of Pitcher George Pitkuzis (above), 17, for violation of the high school rule. Chandler held the rule was broken when Pitkuzis, a senior at Morgan Park High School in Chicago, was taken to a baseball school at Branson, Mo., "with expenses paid."

Baugh To Play With Redskins For 14th Year

NFL's Passing Star Signs 1950 Contract

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 (AP) — Indestructible, 34-year-old Sammy Baugh, who has been playing pro football longer than anyone in the National Football League, today signed a contract for 1950 with the Washington Redskins.

Sammy Baugh

As usual, there was no mention of how much Baugh will get, but it has been guessed that his salary runs around $17,500 a year.

Next season will be Baugh's 14th as a pro. Only one National Football League player ever has bettered that mark.

Johnny Blood put in 15 years service with Milwaukee, Green Bay and Pittsburgh, from 1925 through 1939.

But there's no reason to suppose that Baugh won't beat Blood's record to smithereens. Baugh himself seems to support this feeling.

During a news conference announcing the signing, Baugh broke in to say:

"Now I'd like to ask you newspaper fellas a question: who do you keep asking all the time, 'how much longer are you going to play?'

"Down in Texas we have roping horses that are still as smart and clever as ever at 20. Of course, some wear themselves out at 10 or 12, but others keep right on going.

"I don't see why I can't keep on going, too. Feel as good as ever."

The record supports Baugh's roping horse viewpint. Year after year he's rated as one of the nation's top passers.

This week's statistics show he's the second best passer in the National Football League, a slight notch behind the New York Giants' Charley Cornerly.

Yankees Fined $500

CINCINNATI, Nov. 22 (AP)—The New York Yankees have been fined $500 and deprived forever of the services of pitcher George Piktuzis for violating the high school rule, Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler announced today.

The commissioner held the rule was broken when the youngster was taken to a baseball school at Branson, Mo., "with expenses paid."

No affiliate of the Yankees will be permitted to sign Piktuzis under the rule.

Dons' Players Released

BALTIMORE, Nov. 22 (AP)—Dick Wilkins, end, and Ed Henke, tackle, were released today from Union Memorial Hospital and flew to the West Coast to rejoin the Los Angeles Dons.

Wilkins broke his collar bone in the game here Sunday with the Baltimore Colts and Henke was held for observation of possible internal injuries. Henke's injuries were found to be no more serious than serious bruises.

Army, Cornell And Oklahoma Are Favorites

Notre Dame Picked To Defeat Trojans

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP)—The noble, if not exact, science of picking college football winners was set back several semesters by this agent's well-meaning efforts last week, and there have been threats that somebody will lose his credentials if it happens again. These final selections of the season, then, have been made under something of a strain:

Army vs. Navy—This, the 50th game between the service rivals, should be worthy of the occasion in every respect. It figures to be very close, but the feeling here is that Army's Arnold Galiffa will shade Navy's Bob Zastrow in a pitching duel. Army.

Notre Dame, Naturally

Notre Dame vs. U.S.C.—they keep winning these moral victories over the Irish, but nobody seems to beat 'em for the four full periods. Maybe the eventual solution will be to sign Leahy's team for a 30-minute contest. Notre Dame, naturally.

Baylor vs. Rice—This one is for the championship of the Southwest Conference, and if you don't know about the Southwest Conference there's no use explaining. We'll take a flyer on the team that outpassed S.M.U. last week. Baylor.

Cornell vs. Penn (Thursday)—The Quakers can clinch the Ivy League title either by beating or tying the Big Red. But their last game was a bruising affair against Army, and the guess here is that they will not contain Cornell's fine attack. Cornell.

Sooners Are Choice

Oklahoma vs. Oklahoma A. & M. having been badly scared by Santa Clara last week, the big Sooners probably will rack this one up in a hurry out of sheer relief and then take their choice between the Cotton and the Sugar Bowl, Oklahoma.

North Carolina vs. Virginia — This will be the great Charlie Justice's last game for the Tarheels, barring a bowl engagement, and chances are he will leave his memory green. North Carolina.

S. M. U. vs. T. C. U. — If Doak Walker and his fellow Methodists can forget for a few minutes that they have a date with Notre Dame next week they should outscore the Frogs. But they had better not let their attention waver. S. M. U.

Tulane Given Edge

Tulane vs. Louisiana State — If the Green Wave can take this one it probably still can realize that Sugar Bowl dream. Therefore, there will be no lack of trying, at least, and it should be a terror of a football game. Tulane, just barely.

Texas vs. Texas A. & M. (Thursday) — Having lost four big games by a grand total of 10 points, the Longhorns should be in a mean enough frame of mind to win this old Southwest classic, even if they are playing in the Aggies' park. Texas.

Tennessee vs. Vanderbilt — A team which was god enough to throw Kentucky last week doesn't figure to be extended by the Commodores. Tennessee.

Georgia vs. Georgia Tech — Neither of these two old southern powers has exactly distinguished itself this year. The winner of this one will, however, feel much better. Tech has the edge.

Maryland Is Favorite

Some of these might win, too:

Thursday

Brown over Colgate, College of Pacific over Calif. Poly, Chattanooga over Duquesne, Detroit over Wichita, Missouri over Kansas State, Miami (O.) over Cincinnati, The Citadel over Davidson, Utah over Utah State, V. M. I. over V. P. I., Maryland over W. Virginia, Wash. and Lee over Richmond, Wyoming over Denver, North Texas State over Nevada.

Friday night:

Kentucky over Miami U. (Fla.)

Saturday

U., Kansas ver Arizona, Mississippi over Mississippi State, William & Mary over N. Carolina State, Tulsa over Arksansas, Wake Forest over South Carolina, Texas Tech over Hardin-Simmons, Tevas Western over New Mexico A. & M.

Notre Dame Grid Teams "Champion Of Champions" In Modern Day Football

AP Polls Since 1936 Give "Fighting Irish" Edge Over Michigan

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP) — Notre Dame is the "champion of champions" of modern day college football.

The Fighting Irish beat out Michigan for the No. 1 position in an appraisal today of all the Associated Press final polls since the feature was started in 1936.

The South Benders finished in the "first ten" in 11 of the 13 final standings and led three times to be recognized as the National champion. Final poll of the 1949 season is scheduled next week.

They thus accumulated 67 points compared with 56 for the Wolverines, who rated the top bracket nine times but on top only last year.

The same point system used in the weekly polls was employed to arrive at the all-time standings. Ten points were given for each first place vote, nine for second and so forth.

Minnesota, the scourge of the late '30s and early '40s, finished third. Army, which rode rampant during the war years, was fourth.

The Gophers, who were No. 1 in 1936 and in 1940-41, rated 37 points, three more than the Black Knights of the Hudson, who dominated in 1944-45 when Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis were chewing up gridirons.

Then the south, where bare-legged lads played a hard brand of football, enters the picture.

Alabama and Tennessee, the one time bowl terrors, tied for fifth and sixth with 26 points, followed by Duke, Navy, Pittsburgh and Georgia in order.

The polls included those from 1936 through 1948 and did not take into consideration the present standings, which Notre Dame leads with a walloping vote.

The all-time poll standings figured on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis (first places in parentheses):

1. Notre Dame (3)	67
2. Michigan (1)	56
3. Minnesota (3)	37
4. Army (2)	34
5-6. Alabama & Tennessee	26
7. Duke	24
8. Navy	23
9. Pittsburgh (1)	21
10. Georgia	20

The second ten—11-12 Ohio State (1) and Southern California, each 19; 13 Texas A. & M. (1), 17; 14 California, 16; 15 Louisiana State, 15; 16-17 Iowa Pre-Flight and Texas, each 14; 18-19-20 Fordham, West Virginia and Oklahoma, each 13.

Others receiving points: North Carolina, 12; UCLA, 11; Texas Christian (1), 10; Stanford, Southern Methodist, Boston College and Missouri, each 9; Pennsylvania, Randolph-Field and Wisconsin, each 8; Tulsa, Cornell, Georgia Tech, Indiana, Penn State and Washington, each 7; Illinois, Santa Barbara, Purdue, Tulane, Bainbridge, Nebraska and Oklahoma A. and M., each 6; Villanova, Great Lakes and Carnegie Tech, each 5; Duquesne, Dartmouth and St. Mary's (Calif.), each 4; Del Monte Pre-Flight, 3; Holy Cross, Iowa, Oregon and Mississippi State, each 2; March Field, Rice and Fourth Air Force, each 1.

Joe Louis Wins Exhibition Bout

Whips Joe Cheshul In 10-Round Bout

NEWARK, N. J., (INS) — Retired, undefeated heavyweight champion Joe Louis "won" a unanimous ten round decision tonight over Joe Cheshul in an exhibition bout at Newark Armary.

The former heavyweight king battered his opponent throughout the fight and dropped him twice in the fifth round with resounding rights. Only the bell saved Cheshul.

It was billed as a "no-decision" contest, but there was little doubt among the 6,000 fans in the armory as to who was the "winner."

The bout was reminiscent of many that Joe fought while in his prime. Although he entered the ring at a much too heavy 228-½ pounds, the brown bomber ploughed forward in the same devastating manner that marked his former bouts.

The 185-pound Bayonne, N. J., heavyweight was ever sprinting backward.

Louis floored Cheshul for a count of nine in the fifth. The 10-ounce gloves didn't prevent Louis from opening a cut above Cheshul's eye. At the bell, Cheshul went to one knee for no count, but appeared to be out on his feet.

It was the second ten-round exhibition Louis has fought in nine days. He floored Johnny Shkor three times in a Boston bout.

There are reports that Joe is planning a comeback and wants a title match with Ezzard Charles this summer, but Louis has said that this isn't so.

Navy Conceded Chance To Beat Army Saturday

Cadets' 14-Point Edge Is Discounted

By CHARLES EINSTEIN

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (INS) — Football free-thinkers are giving Navy its best chance since 1943 of beating Army in the 50th battle of the services at Philadelphia Saturday.

No doubt conditioned by what happened last year, when winless Navy got up on its hind legs to tie the powerful Cadets, 21 to 21, experts already are busily discounting the odds that make Army a 14-point favorite this time out.

They point out, for one thing, that George Sauer, the Navy coach, has Army scouted better than Sitting Bull had Custer.

"We make no sceret that we're not so strong as we'd like to be," Sauer said at Annapolis today, "but we may have something or other to show for ourselves."

Army, meanwhile, is making no secret about its effort to make a secret out of what it is doing to get set for Navy. The best Coach Earl Blaik would say was:

"We have the greatest respect for Navy. We learned a lot from that narrow one-point victory over Penn."

Blaik says it isn't true Army had ten scouts watching the Navy-Columbia game.

"Only four," he said.

All four undoubtedly got a good look at Navy's greatest weapon — the passing of sophomore Bob Zastrow. The 1949 season seems to have been the experience Zastrow needed, and he has teammates who can catch the ball.

Therin lies Navy's best beat-Army hope since 1943, when the Midshipmen did beat Army, 13 to 0.

In the intervening years, things have gone not so good for Navy. They lost 23-7 in 1944, 32-13 in '45, 21-18 in '46 and 21-0 in '47 before tying last year, although the 21-18 loss to Blanchard and Davis was tantamount to a naval victory.

One thing in Army's favor, at the same time, is the fact that the Black Knights come into this game in fine physical fettle, something they couldn't claim a year ago.

Furthermore, they may not have to worry too much about overconfidence. The experts are doing the worrying for them.

Locals Mesh 22 Foul Shots For 2nd Win

Prexies Hold 20-18 Edge In Goals; Dukes To Play St. Francis

Jimmie Clevenger, Bob Pence and Paul Oberhaus helped themselves to 13 points each last night as Dave Kauffman's Cumberland Dukes won their second game within three days by downing Coach Adam Sanders Washington and Jefferson College two-platoon quintet by the score of 58-52 at SS. Peter and Paul gym.

A crowd of approximately 300 turned out on "Ladies Night" and witnessed an interesting game which was played in two 20-minute halves.

Contest Is Close

At no time in the first half was there more than five points difference in the score, that being when the Presidents held a 6-1 advantage. In the second half the margin was never greater than 7 points when the Dukes were on top at 47-40 and 57-50. The score was knotted at 9-9 and 11-11 in the initial half and at 29-29 and 31-31 during the last 20 minutes of action.

After the count had been knotted for the 4th time at 31-31, the Dukes went to the front on foul goals by Oberhaus and George Geatz and were never headed thereafter, although the Presidents twice pulled up four points in the rear at 52-48 and 54-50. After the visitors' final threat Bob Pence's fielder and Lou Bell's free throw settled the issue.

Shoot 22 Foul Goals

W. & J., paced by Jack Eaton, Andy Mestrovic, Dave Knoche and Bill Parkinson, outscored the Dukes from the field, 20 to 18 goals, but the All-American League quintet went out and won the game at the charity stripe by meshing 22 of 36 tosses while the invaders were connecting 12 times in 20 tries.

Twenty-nine personals were plastered on the collegians and 19 were called on the home team by Clifton an Roby and "Bobby" Cavanaugh. wenty-one players saw action, 12 Prexies and 9 Dukes.

Pence, Clevenger and Oberhaus accounted for 39 points and 14 of the locals' 18 field goals. Clevenger and George Geatz heaved in a couple of hair-raising shots each and the latter played a bangup floor game.

Eaton, Mestrovic and Parkinson tossed in 13 of the Washington (Pa.) team's 20 fielders while Knoche and McGregor excelled with their floor play.

Clevenger sank five for five at the foul line for the victors and Knoche connected four times in as many tries for the college team.

Santa Clara To Play In Orange Bowl

California Eleven Accepts Invitation

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 22 (AP) — The University of Santa Clara football team, twice beaten and once tied, was named today to play in the Miami Orange Bowl classic Jan. 2.

It will be the first California team ever to play in this bowl.

Van C. Kussrow, chairman of the Orange Bowl schedule committee, made the announcement after catching the team by telephone at Santa Barbara, Calif. They were en route home from a game with Oklahoma.

"It's definite," said Kussrow. "The president of the University, the Rev. William C. Gianera, and Coach Len Casanova, both agreed to come to Miami for our big game."

Choice of the Pacific Coast team's opponent hinged on the outcome of several games this weekend. A possibility existed that the New Year grid classic might be a California vs Florida affair.

Naturally partisan Miami sports editors said that if the University of Miami beat strong Kentucky Friday night the Hurricanes might stand a chance of getting a bid.

Tulane was well liked generally, but was thought to be a good Sugar Bowl prospect. Other teams mentioned were Kentucky—if they win Friday—Tennessee, and the loser of the Rice-Baylor game Saturday. The winner of that game will go to the Cotton Bowl.

Another consideration was money. Miami can offer only $75,000 to a bowl team while both the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans and the Cotton Bowl in Dallas offer $20,000 to $30,000 more.

Santa Clara was chosen quickly by the Orange Bowl committee after Kussrow himself reported on the Santa-Clara-Oklahoma game which he scouted Saturday.

Undefeated Oklahoma won that one 28-21. Santa Clara's only other defeat was by California, the Pacific Coast champions, 21-7. The Broncos tied Stanford 7-7.

On the victory side Santa Clara defeated San Jose 14-13, Fresno State 53-0, Portland 26-13, UCLA 14-0, Loyola 27.19, San Francisco 13-7 and St. Mary's 19-6.

West Virginia Mutuel Handle Is 22 Million

Races Bring State $673,468 In 1949

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 22 (AP) — Bets totaling $22,448,930 flowed through the mutuel windows of West Virginia's two race tracks this year, the State Racing Commission reported today.

The figure compares with $19,280,284 for the same period of 1948. Missing from both totals is the annual December meeting at Charles Town. This year's 15-day winter meeting at the eastern panhandle track starts December 5.

At last year's winter meet, wagers totaled $4,683,984 and increased the take for the year to $23,964,268.

For 61 days of racing last year, Charles Town's mutuel handle totaled $14,792,243, while for 70 days this year the pools have aggregated $12,414,102.

Officials said the decline for 1949 may have been because of competition with Maryland, Delaware, and New Jersey tracks.

The mutuel handle at the Wheeling track for 55 days of racing in 1949 amounted to $10,034,828 compared with $9,172,025 for the 55 day meet in 1948.

The state's share thus far in 1949 is $673,468, which compares with $601,908.52, for 1948 exclusive of the $145,019.52 received from the winter meet.

13 Mountaineers Play Final Game

West Virginia Plays Maryland Tomorrow

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 22 —Thursday's holiday battle with Maryland at College Park will ring down the curtain on the collegiate careers of no less than 13 West Virginia University gridders. Two others who have eligibility remaining may graduate before next season.

Singing their swan songs will be Halfback Charles Becca, Guard Mario Cavatassi, End Clarence (Bud) Cox, Halfback Robert Fought, End Bernie Huntz, Tackle Ralph Main, Fullback Walter Malyk, Fullback Jack Morton, Tackle Fred Stuvek, Tackle Anthony Torchio, Quarterback Jimmy Walthall, End Kenneth Wilson and Capt. Pete Zinaich.

The questionables are Guard Rudy Boyle and Halfback Dud DeGroot, son of the Mountaineer coach. Both are seniors but are eligible for further competition if they do not finish.

While Mountaineer hopes are high, all of the odds appear to favor Maryland, which has been idle since its 14-13 triumph over Boston University on Nov. 12. The Terps will be at full strength and primed to avenge the 16-14 disappointment West Virginia handed them here last year.

Terrors Win Final

WESTMINSTER, Md., Nov. 22 (AP)—Western Maryland wound up its soccer season today by defeating Johns Hopkins, 5-2, in a Mason-Dixon Conference contest.

Bob Hettells and George Winfrey were the big guns of the Western Maryland attack.

Tacaro Briar Cops Feature

Half-Miler Graduate Pays $16.60 At Bowie

BOWIE RACETRACK, Bowie Md., Nov. 22 (AP) — In an extremely close finish Tacaro Briar, owned by Robert L. Hall, Jr., got up in the very last instant to nose out Flag Drill and Briar White in the featured Port Tobacco Purse here today.

After a long deliberation the placing judges were unable to split Flag Drill and Briar White and called it a tie.

Flag Drill had led the entire mile and sixteenth but hung right at the wire.

Tacaro Briar, a graduate from the Maryland half-milers paid $16.60, $6.00 and $4.00 across the board. Fleet Vixen was the favorite in this event but ran a poor sixth.

Fleet Vixen was the sixth straight beaten choice of the extremely cold afternoon.

A crowd of about 6,000 watched Flag Drill set the pace in the feature race contested by eight $15,000 platers and barely lose out in the thrilling finish.

Another deadheat — for win — developed in the seventh race when Hamlet and Oozo finished all even. White Meadow, an outsider, was third.

Md. Terps Drill For W. Va. Game

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 22 (AP)—The Maryland football squad ran through a light workout today stressing pass defense and attack.

With only a short blackboard drill scheduled for tomorrow, that finished up the Terps' preparations for the Thanksgiving Day tussle here with West Virginia.

With the exception of Substitute Fullback Karney Sciosa, the Terps will be at top strength for the contest. Sciosa is out for the season with an injury.

Coach Jim Tatum once again warned his rugged athletes they will have to play their best to get by the Mountaineers. He terms West Virginia one of the most underrated teams in the country.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Arthur Leo Robinette, who passed away 6 years ago today, November 23, 1943.
The blow was hard the shock severe,
We never thought his death so near;
Only those who have lost can tell
The pain of parting without farewell.
He little thought when leaving home
That he never would return.
That he so soon in death would sleep,
And leave us here to mourn and weep.
God only knows how much we miss him;
Never shall his memory fade.
Loving thoughts will ever wander
To the spot where he is laid.
Sadly missed by his Wife & Children

Stock Market Swerves To Rising Course After Monday Side-Track

NEW YORK, Nov. 22 (AP)—The stock market swerved back on a rising course today after getting side-tracked Monday.

A substantial amount of business was done throughout the day. Turnover expanded to 1,400,000 shares from 1,180,000 yesterday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks edged up .2 of one point to 68.6. This compared with the 1949 high of 68.7 first touched this year on Nov. 2 and matched on Saturday.

The railroad group made the best showing for a change. Industrials took second place while utilities were unchanged on average.

A total of 1,110 individual issues changed hands, of which 489 advanced and 339 declined.

News highs for the year were established by 68 issues while four dropped to a bottom for the year.

Announcement by Studebaker of a $1.25 yearend dividend came after the close of the market. The stock has been favored recently, largely in anticipation of a generous disbursement. Final price was up ¼ at 26⅞, just under the year's peak.

Chrysler, also actively traded, moved up a point to 60½. Chrysler was a strong spot last week as rumors circulated in the financial district that the company's board might vote a yearend dividend when it meets Dec. 1.

Republic Steel had a little more concrete news to go on. The stock closed 1⅜ higher at 23⅜ following news that directors had approved a special dividend of $1.25.

Cudahy Packing rated high on the active list, mainly because of a single transfer of 29,800 shares at 8, up ⅛. Final price was 8¼.

International hydro-electric, also active, stood out with a rise of a full point to 8¼.

American Power & Light common and preferred, steadily boosted last week, continued to rise. The common finished ⅜ up at 14, the $6 preferred 2⅝ up at 120, and the $5 preferred up 2⅜ at 101.

Others higher included U. S. Steel, General Motors, Woolworth J. I. Case, Schenley, Radio Corp., Reynolds Metals, American Telephone, Consolidated Edison, Standard Gas & Electric, Homestake Mining, Du Pont, Eastman Kodak, General Electric, American Woolen, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Railway, Southern Pacific, Norfolk & Western, U. S. Gypsum, and Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass.

Volume dwindled slightly to $3,310,000 from $3,430,000 yesterday.

Profit taking lopped 1-32 and 2-32 off the bid price of most long-term U. S. Treasury bonds. The 2½s of September, 1972-67, were quoted at 30-32 bid, off 2-32.

Brethren Church Youth Meet

KEYSER, W. Va.—The youth of the First District, West Virginia Church of the Brethren, met at Keyser Church of the Brethren, South Main Street, Sunday for a round table discussion.

At the business session officers were elected for two years as follows: Alma Moyers, Brandonville, president; William Ludwick, Keyser, treasurer; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ludwick, Burlington, adult advisors. The group voted to help defray expenses in sending a missionary to a foreign country as the district project.

The Peace Caravan, consisting of six young persons, was a guest of the round table. Jean Schrock, Goshen, Ind.; Hilda Rumsey, Lima, Ohio; Julia LaPrade, Boone Mill, Va.; Herbert Williams, Detroit; Ralph Dull, Dayton, Ohio, and Urbin Ling, Lima, Ohio, are giving a year to Brethren Volunteer Service, and will be here for several days.

At the evening church service Miss Pulia LaPrade spoke on "The Youth at Work." She pointed out that "although there are many dark spots in the world, and much work to be done, the young people are on the march to the Kingdom of God."

Three members of the caravan will meet each evening, Monday through Friday, this week, at the local church, starting at 7:30 o'clock. "Problems of Youth" was the subject for the first two nights, and tonight the discussion will be "DP's." The meetings are open to the public.

Carrying a load of Christmas presents, the plane was flying in from Teterboro, N.J., Airport to the Michigan Airport. It was reported doing 100 miles an hour when it was observed wobbling. Then it rammed house. Two crewmen and an occupant of the dwelling were killed. (International)

B. And O. Dividend Decision Deferred

Consideration of a B. and O. Railroad stock dividend will be deferred until accurate appraisal can be made of the 1949 income, Roy B. White, railroad president, told stockholders Monday at the annual meeting in Baltimore.

A few months ago, before earnings were cut drastically by the coal and steel strikes, White had hoped that the board at its November meeting would have been able to declare a dividend at least equal to that announced at the annual meeting last year.

At that time, directors declared $1 a share on the four per cent non-cumulative preferred stock for payment December 22, 1948. This was the first dividend on that stock in 16 years.

White estimated that combined effects of the coal and steel work stoppage in the period from September 19 to November 15, cost the B. and O. $14,000,000 in gross revenues.

With resumption of coal and steel production this month, he said, "we should have some additional net income in the remaining months of the year."

Jury Awards Ultis $1,055 In Auto Case

A Circuit Court jury returned a verdict yesterday in favor of John Ultis against Frank F. Gigliotti for $1,055.50.

Ultis, represented by Edward J. Ryan, contended he had been seriously injured and incapacitated for a time after being struck by an auto operated by Gigliotti October 11, 1948, at the Celanese plant gates, McMullen Highway.

Testimony showed that Ultis stepped from a bus on which he had ridden to work and the car ran him down.

The defense attorney, W. Earle Cobey, attempted to show that Ultis walked against the side of the car and had not exercised proper caution in crossing the roadway.

Ultis claimed he incurred heavy medical and hospital expense and was deprived of his earnings of $54 per week for a long period. He had entered suit orginally for a claim of $5,000.

Soldier Jailed In Attack On Taxi Driver

Year-long Search Ends With Arrest Of Jack Simpson

A year-old police search for the last of three young men who allegedly beat a local cab driver and stole his cab ended yesterday with the arrest of Pfc. Jack Raymond Simpson, 23, on a local street.

Simpson, wanted in connection with an attack on Chester "Slim" O'Neal, 53, of 230 Union Street, was arrested at 8:15 p. m. yesterday by City Police Desk Sgt. John E. Sherry, who was returning from lunch when he spotted Simpson on North Centre Street.

The soldier, who has been spending a furlough from Fort Bragg, N. C., at his home, 146 Bedford Street, was lodged in City Jail and will be questioned today in the State's Attorney's office.

Simpson was indicted in absentia at the October, 1948, term of the Grand Jury. He was charged with assault.

Put On Probation

Two other youths, Wallace Angelo Newell, 508 Ford Avenue, and Milton Ralphord Lease, were put on probation on similar charges last year.

Trooper First Class William F. Baker, State Police criminal investigator, said Simpson, who has been sought since the attack, joined the Army shortly after the incident.

O'Neal was beaten and robbed early on the morning of September 1, 1948, on the Bean's Cove Road by three young men who he said stole his taxicab after the beating.

The cab driver was found by three Cresaptown men who saw O'Neal struggling with the three youths. He was taken to Memorial Hospital, where he remained for more than a week with head injuries.

The incident set off an intensive search for the three youths. Newell was arrested two days later by Lt. Edwin R. Lilya of the City Police, and Lease, who had been identified as a second attacker, surrendered to authorities a short time later.

Working Scale Model Of New Mt. Savage School

The new million and a quarter dollar school under construction at Mt. Savage is described by the architect, S. Russ Minter, A.I.A., this city, as a modern-functional design. Shown here are two views of a scale working model. The top photo shows the front or main entrance with circular driveways and walks as a safety feature. The bottom picture shows the rear or playing field side, with the playing field at the right. The model is built to scale even including the miniature figure of a school boy on the side walk, the autos and school buses in the driveways. An idea of the enormity of the building can be attained when it is realized the flag pole in front of the main entrance is actually 40 feet high. The building includes all the up-to-date features of a modern educational facility. The structure is of brick, concrete, steel and glass block.

Three Prisoners Taken To W. Va.

Three local men who reportedly admitted stealing a saw mill in Grant County, W. Va., were returned to West Virginia last night for arraignment on grand larceny charges.

The three prisoners, William Popp, Williams Road; Aaron Lee, 317 Emily Street, and Francis Gray, Linden Street, waiver extradition in Circuit Court proceedings yesterday afternoon before Associate Judge George Henderson.

Trooper I. Preston Richardson, of the Romney detachment of the West Virginia State Police, said preliminary hearings for the trio are scheduled for 10 a. m. today before Justice of the Peace A. L. Russell in Romney.

Richardson said the three men signed statements in which they admitted stealing a saw mill owned by Bernard Harrah, Cooper's Mountain, and bringing it to Maryland, where it was set up on a small farm operated by Popp.

Trooper First Class William F. Baker of the Maryland State Police arrested Popp and Lee Sunday, and Officer Louis Downey of the City Police arrested Gray.

The trio was returned to West Virginia last night by Trooper Preston and Sheriff M. R. Hott of Grant County.

Park Place Church Plans Expansion

Park Place Methodist Church will buy two lots adjoining the church property in Narrows Park.

The congregation decided at a recent meeting to buy the lots to take care of increased attendance at church services and Sunday School.

A parsonage or a church recreation hall will be built on the lots, and trustees were authorized to arrange for leveling of the ground to double available parking space.

A committee was appointed to submit plans for a one-story addition to the present Sunday School room. The addition would be built so that a second-story could be added later. Work will get under way next Spring.

Rev. Charles E. Shaw, pastor, reported that 76 new members joined the congregation during the last Conference year, and 10 have joined this year.

Albert Albright, superintendent of the Sunday School, reported an enrollment of 247, with an average attendance of about 200 each Sunday.

Sledding Areas Are Designated On City Streets

Chief Flynn Notes Safety Rules List

With snowy weather just around the corner, plans were announced yesterday to rope off eight city streets for sledding.

The streets have been designated by Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn.

Chief Flynn also has prepared a list of sledding safety rules which every child should follow, according to City Recreation Director Edmund F. Hoey.

Streets which have been designated for sledding as soon as weather permits are:

Gephart Drive to Cleveland Avenue; Grand Avenue; Oak Street; Goethe Street; Chase Street; Marietta Street; Sylvan Avenue, and Warren Street.

Hoey requested parents to see that their children use sleds only on these streets. Motorists are urged to drive carefully in those areas during snowy weather when youngsters are out coasting.

Auxiliary police will assist in supervising the children, and lanterns

Weather

Just in time for Thanksgiving traveling, State Police have sounded the "All Clear" on roads east and west of the city. A hypocritical sun, that tried to pretend it was warmer than the official 32-degree maximum temperature, melted the ice on area roads yesterday. About an inch of snow greeted Cumberlanders yesterday morning. By afternoon, most of it had degenerated to .02 inch of plain, old water. The thermometer was at one time down to 24 degrees and registered 27 at 10:30 p. m. But, bravely, the weatherman says cloudy and warmer today.

County Board To Clarify Policy On Sick Leave Pay Of Employes

The question of sick leave and salaries and wages was raised before the Board of Allegany County Commissioners yesterday by Mrs. Jennie Sills, county auditor.

Mrs. Sills said she is unable to properly prepare the county payroll because of an inconsistant policy regarding sick leave pay and payment of salaries of county employes absent due to illness.

She asked the Board to establish a definite policy and enter it into the minutes as a matter of record for future guidance.

Mrs. Sills said at least one institutional head wanted his salaried employes paid for only 14 days sick leave in event of illness while all other salaried employes are being paid during the full time of their absence.

Hourly employes have an agreement of 14 days sick leave with pay each year, she said, and if they are ill for longer periods they draw no wages.

Mrs. Sills cited the case of a conuty constable who has been ill and another constable has been hired to do his work. If this man's salary is to be paid while he is ill, and the extra or substitute constable is also paid, it makes two salaries on one job, she told the Board.

Commissioner James Holmes said he believes the question is one for a legal opinion from the attorney.

Commissioner William H. Lemmert said a distinct understanding should be reached so everyone is on the same basis.

Commissioner Wilkinson said he is of the opinion that all salaried employes, some of whom get as little at $125 per month should be paid in case of illness, because members of the absent employe's department usually share the work and substitutes are seldom hired. The case of the constable is a rare exception, he pointed out. He suggested that the attorney make an investigation and report to the board.

The board agreed that as a matter of fairness and efficiency some definite decision should be reached and the matter made known to all county employes.

Board Issues Three Beer Permits

The Allegany County Liquor Control Board yesterday issued a beer license and two beer and wine licenses. The beer license went to Kenneth A. Feight and John C. Deetz, Jr., partners in the Circle Inn, McMullen Blvd.

Clarence I. Minnick and Gildo J. Bagatti, Valley Road, and Kenneth T. Hager, 814 North Mechanic Street got beer and wine permits.

An application was filed by Arthur and John Blank, East Side Route 36 at Zihlman, for a beer and wine license.

Coffee Boosts Price Of Food Basket

In spite of a 13-cent increase in coffee prices in recent weeks, food prices are still below July averages.

The Chamber of Commerce 14 item food basket cost $8.50 last week, a six-cent increase over the previous week, caused entirely by the boost in coffee prices. The same foods cost $8.64 in July.

Road Complaints To County Board Will Get Action

Several complaints were received yesterday by the Board of Allegany County Commissioners regarding the condition of county roads, all east of Cumberland.

Floyd Buser said Oliver Belt Road is in such bad condition that bumpers of automobiles drag on the ground in places and there is no place on the road wide enough to turn around. He stated that eleven school children must walk a mile to the school bus route and farmers in the area are suffering monetary loss because of the roadway's condition.

Buser said the area is one of the richest farm areas in the county, adding that a single 80-acre orchard is producing 40,000 bushels of fruit annually, but the orchardist lost part of his crop because he could not get trucks over the road. "This is the most neglected road and the most neglected community in the county," Buser declared.

He told the board there are 24 good farms on the roadway and 27 families, all of whom make at least one trip over the road daily.

Commissioner William H. Lemmert said the Oliver Belt Road is in the county's present road building program and will be repaired shortly.

Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson said the crews will probably be on Oliver Belt Road next week. He stated this roadwork would have been done, but it had become necessary to move crews and machinery out of the area to complete the culvert job on the Mexico Farms Road, when the bridge over the canal there was closed as unsafe. Had the emergency not arisen, the Oliver Bart project would have been finished, he said.

County Gets Two New Committing Magistrates

Third Justice May Be Named At Oldtown

Two new magistrates have been appointed in Allegany County with a third appointment to be made, it was learned here yesterday.

A new idea, to serve communities in rural and outlying areas, resulting in a new state law makes the appointments possible. The magistrates, known as "committing magistrates" are empowered to issue warrants, accept bond or commit to jail in lieu of bond, but cannot actually try cases.

Appointed, according to commissions received at the office of the clerk of court here, are Arnold Kemphfer, McCoole, and George Deffenbaugh, Oldtown.

William L. Wilson, Jr., chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, said he understands a third appointment is to be made for Flintstone.

The committing magistrates were appointed and devised because State Police have found it inconvenient to themselves and violators to often drive 25 or 30 miles before a magistrate who can accept collateral is located.

Police said arrests of motor law violators are often made in the Flintstone, Oldtown and McCoole area, and it is frequently necessary to drive to Cumberland to take the traversers before a magistrate for posting bond.

Astor Cab Sued For $12,500

Two damage suits totalling $12,500 were docketed in Circuit Court yesterday against Fred W. Jeknins, trading as Astor Cab Company, as the result of a traffic mishap which allegedly occurred last Christmas Day.

Mae Walker, through her attorneys, William A. Gunter, William J. Gunter and William H. Geppert, claims she was struck by an Astor cab while she was crossing North Mechanic Street at Frederick Street last December 25. She claims she suffered serious and permanent injuries and was hospitalized for a long period of time. She is suing for $10,000.

In a companion suit her husband, William Walker, is suing the taxicab operating company for $2,500 for hospital, medical and other expenses he says he was put to as a result of the injury.

Both suits charge negligence, claiming the driver of the cab drove across a walkway area of the street and struck Mrs. Walker.

The open house is being arranged by the social sessions committee, which is headed by Harry Tracy.

Tracy said plans for a Thanksgiving Night dance have been cancelled.

However, the regular weekly dance will be held Saturday night.

Plans for Christmas and New Year parties will be announced in the near future.

Decisions Are Handed Down In Kelly Disputes

Dept. 52 And 91-D Rulings Received

Awards in two disputes submitted to arbitration by Local 26, United Rubber Rubber, Cork, linoleum and Plastic Workers of America (CIO) and the Kelly - Springfield Tire Company have been handad down by Jacob J. Blair, Pittsburgh.

In the first, under the stipulation, "Is the company in error in paying average hourly earnings up to base rates" to a T builder in Department 52 temporarily assigned to the job of service man in the same department, Blair ruled the wroker was to be paid at his average earned rate.

The second case, on the question as to whether or not the company had the right to eliminate the job of operating an elevator in Department 91-D and to combine the job with that of truckers in Department 95, Blair denied the grievance on the grounds that:

In the application of Article 7, the provision has been interpreted to mean that personnel will be transferred with the equipment when 50 per cent on more of a man day is required.

In this case, he said, only seven per cent of the truck operator's time is required to operate the elevator and ...the company has no obligation to transfer the elevator operators.

Cite Precedent

In the first case, the question was whether "work was or was not available when the employe, at T builder in Department 52 was temporarily assigned to the job of service man in the same department after he had started the shift in his regular occupation.

The employe, Blair said, had finished about one-half a tire when, due to absenteeism, he was removed from T building, with an approximate rate of $1.96 an hour, to the job of service man. During that shift, nobody was assigned to his job, but work was resumed at the beginning of the next shift.

The union contended that under Article 6, Sec. 3, the employe should receive average hourly earnings while he was on the Service job... and that in other similar cases, average hourly earnings have been paid.

The company said the case falls under Article 6, Sec. 14, A-B and agreed that in other cases, payment had been made under Article 6, Sec. 3, but in error.

It said the real test of whether work is available depends upon whether the man is replaced...when Section 3 would apply.

Blair said that since in the past men had been paid under Article 6, Sec. 3 for work done under similar conditions, the union grievance was sustained.

No ruling was made, however, on the principle of "whether work was available" as this principle applies to an interpretation of Article 6, Sec. 3 and 14 A-B.

He added such a ruling would require consideration of many factors on which evidence was inadequate or entirely lacking.

In awarding for the union, he said that "if considered as an error, there are so many cases where men have been compensated under Section 3 that it seems only reasonable that the issue of compensation should not have been raised in Knapp's case.

Instead, he should have been paid under Sec. 3 with the understanding that henceforth the "error" was to be corrected and compensation

Trees To Hide Strip Mining Scars In Area

Organizations May Aid In Reclamation

Experiments are being conducted in Western Maryland by the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission in the reclamation for wild life use of land abandoned following strip mining operations.

Dale H. Arner, game technician, said experimental plantings on abandoned strip mines in Garrett County have "taken hold."

The growth of trees and shrubs on such land, he said is slow, but in most cases, selected plants and trees will grow and thrive.

Pennsylvania authorities have been experimenting on the problem for a number of years and have reported favorable results, Arner said.

Ridgeley Scouts Help

The first such experiment in this area was begun recently with the help of Boy Scout Troop No. 71, Ridgeley, on an old strip mine in the Eckhart area.

Only a small area was used in the project. The reclamation work will be accomplished with plantings of lespedeza, a hardy legume which has been extremely useful in erosion control, and plantings of nut trees such as pig nuts, filberts and shellbark hickory trees.

The nuts were planted by the Scouts beneath tin cans which will protect the sprouting trees from rodents.

Will Plant Seedlings

Next spring, plantings of wild black cherry, aspens and scotch pine seedlings will be set on the grounds scarred by strip mining operations.

If sufficient money is available, bulldozers may be used to level off some of the steepest banks on any state owned land which may be reclaimed for wild life use.

Since funds for the project are extremely limited, the Game Commission is counting on the Boy Scouts, Future Farmers, sportsmen and conservation organizations to do most of the work.

Accomplishments to date include the planting of 50 seed beds including some 150 pounds of Chinese chestnuts, 70 pounds of filberts, two gallons of wild black cherry seeds and 25 pounds of shellbark hickory nuts.

Most of the seedlings are expected to be ready for transplanting in the strip mine areas in two years, Arner said.

Ridgeley Charity Canvass Set

The Ridgeley Association of Charities made plans for additional collection of food, clothing and funds to aid the community's needy at a meeting Monday at the elementary school.

According to Roland Showers, president, members of the Ladies Auxiliary of Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion, volunteered to canvass the town today for food.

Plans also were outlined for collection of a cash fund to be used for purchase of medical care and fuel for those who need it. Showers said contributions may be sent to Arthur Swardley, treasurer.

A day is to be set aside for distribution of food stuffs, and those who need clothing can get it at Frantz's store each Thursday afternoon, Showers said.

The next meeting of the Association is set for December 5 at 6:30 p. m. at the school house.

New Playground Group Planned

Plans are underway to form a new playground association in the Mt. Royal Avenue section.

Following a meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association at Mt. Royal School Monday evening, approximately 20 interested persons met and elected Martin Johnson as temporary chairman.

The new playground group has scheduled a meeting for Monday evening, December 5, at the school, to which the public is invited.

City Recreation Director Edmund F. Hoey, who spoke at the meeting Monday, will also attend the December 5 session.

Hoey discussed the need for a playground group in that area to aid in furthering the city recreation program.

The new group will be organized on a neighborhood basis, with membership open to all parents in the Mt. Royal area.
